ST. PATRICK'S
R. C. CHURCH
SYDNEY.

---

An Act to enable the Trustees of the intended New Roman Catholic Church of St. Patrick in the Town of Sydney to build at a less distance from the outer edge of the Footway of Charlotte-place than is allowed by law.
[16th October, 1840.]

Preamble.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the fifth year of the reign of His late Majesty King William the Fourth intituled "An Act for better regulating the alignment of Streets in the Town of Sydney" it is among other things enacted that it shall not be lawful for any person to erect any building of any kind or description whatsoever within the Town of Sydney within twelve feet of the outer curbstone or the exterior edge of the footways in the said town and whereas it is found necessary for the convenience of the Roman Catholics in the said town to erect a new church in that part thereof called Church Hill and whereas a portion of ground has been conveyed by one William Davis to certain trustees for that purpose bounded on the south by Charlotte-place on the west by Gloucester-street on the north by the property of Matthew Harris and on the east by the property of William Davis which portion of ground will not be sufficiently large for the site of the intended church unless the southern wall of the same be permitted to approach so near to the outer edge of the northern footway of Charlotte-place near the junction of that street with Gloucester-street as to be at the distance only of about nine feet from the outer edge of the said footway which cannot be effected without the aid
