

No. VI.

ISLANDERS' SHIPPING
ENGAGEMENTS.

An Act to protect the Aboriginal Natives of the Islands of the Pacific Ocean from imposition when engaging as Seamen. [17th July, 1879.]

Preamble.

WHEREAS the law at present in force regulating the engagement of Seamen is insufficient to protect Aboriginal Natives of the Islands of the Pacific Ocean from being imposed upon in their engagements as seamen at ports in this Colony and it is expedient to amend the law so as to afford protection to such persons Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly of New South Wales in Parliament assembled and by the authority of the same as follows :—

Short title of Act.

1. This Act may be cited as the "Islanders' Shipping Engagements Act."

Islanders to be engaged before Shipping Master.

2. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the "Seamen's Laws Consolidation Act of 1864" it shall not be lawful for any master of a ship or other person to engage as a seaman any Aboriginal Native of any of the Islands of the Pacific Ocean (hereinafter termed "islander") at any port or place in New South Wales unless such engagement shall be entered into as hereinafter provided before the Shipping Master of such port or place And no agreement with any such islander made out of the Colony not made and appearing to have been made before either a Shipping Master or a Consul shall be enforceable against such islander in any of the Courts of the Colony unless a Shipping Master shall have certified that in his opinion such agreement reasonably provides for the victualling and remuneration of such islander And it shall be the duty of such Shipping Master when applied to for that purpose to express in writing his opinion whether such agreement does or does not so provide.

3. The master of any ship of whatever tonnage such ship may be and in whatever trade she may be engaged who shall engage any islander as a seaman at any port or place in New South Wales shall enter into an agreement with him in the form of the Schedule hereto And every such agreement shall be so framed as to admit of stipulations being introduced therein at the joint will of the master and islander in each case as to advance and allotment of wages or any other stipulations not contrary to law and shall be prepared and signed in duplicate and be filled up by the Shipping Master and in all cases shall be signed by the master in the presence of and attested by such Shipping Master And one of such duplicates shall in every case be left with the Shipping Master and be retained by him in his office Provided always that before any such agreement shall be signed by such islander the same shall be read over and explained to him by the Shipping Master or some person authorized by him and the signature (or mark if the islander be unable to write) shall thereupon be attested by the Shipping Master but no islander shall be allowed by the Shipping Master to sign or affix his mark to any such agreement unless in the Shipping Master's opinion such islander shall appear fully to comprehend the nature and effect of such agreement and of the remuneration whether by wages lay or otherwise therein stipulated for.

4. If any master shall engage or enter into an agreement with any islander in contravention of the provisions of either of the preceding sections he shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds and not less than five pounds which may be recovered and applied in the same manner as a penalty under the "Seamen's Laws Consolidation Act of 1864" is directed to be recovered and applied Provided always that proceedings under this section shall be commenced within either six months from the expiration or other determination of such engagement or agreement or within six months from the time of such master's return to the Colony.

Penalty.

5. All islanders being seamen in intercolonial or foreign trade ships discharged in the Colony shall be discharged and receive their wages in the presence of a Shipping Master and any master or owner discharging any such islander or paying him his wages in the Colony in any other manner shall incur a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.
