

FORTY-FOUR HOURS WEEK (AMENDMENT) ACT.

Act No. 11, 1926.

George V, An Act to amend the Forty-four Hours Week Act, No. 11. 1925, in certain respects; and for purposes connected therewith. [Assented to, 17th March, 1926.]

BE it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly of New South Wales in Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the "Forty-four Hours Week (Amendment) Act, 1926."

Amendment of Act No. 16, 1925.

2. The Forty-four Hours Week Act, 1925, is amended—

Secs. 6, 12, 13.

(a) by omitting from sections six, twelve, and thirteen the words "and shipping with respect to vessels trading beyond the limits of a port" wherever occurring in those sections;

Sec. 10.

(b) by omitting section ten and inserting the following section in lieu thereof:—

Penalties.

10. Any person making a contract or agreement express or implied, and whether verbally or in writing, which provides for the working of hours in excess of those prescribed by or under this Act, or who is guilty of a contravention of this Act for which a penalty is not expressly provided, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds, recoverable before an industrial magistrate.
