In this Division:

cash price of a motor vehicle means the sum of the price (if any) at which the vehicle is sold and the amount of the value of any other vehicle or other thing that comprises the whole or part of the consideration for the sale. rescission order means an order made under section 117 or 118.

116 Conferral of jurisdiction on courts

The following courts have jurisdiction to make a rescission order in relation to the sale of a motor vehicle:

- (a) the Local Court in the exercise of its jurisdiction under Part 3 of the Local Court Act 2007, if the cash price for which the motor vehicle was sold does not exceed the jurisdictional limit of the Local Court when sitting in its General Division within the meaning of that Act,
- (b) the District Court, if the cash price for which the motor vehicle was sold does not exceed the amount for the time being specified in section 44 (1) (a) of the District Court Act 1973,
- (c) the Supreme Court.

117 Rescission orders

- (1) A court may, on application by the Secretary, if it is satisfied that a ground for making the order has been made out, make an order that:
 - (a) the sale of a motor vehicle by a motor dealer is rescinded and that the motor vehicle must be returned to the motor dealer, and
 - (b) any amount paid or the value of other consideration given by the purchaser for the motor vehicle must be returned to the purchaser, subject to any financial adjustment between the motor dealer and the purchaser that the court thinks fit to make.

- (2) The court may also make any other ancillary or consequential orders it thinks fit, including an order as to payment of the costs of the application.
- (3) The grounds for making a rescission order are as follows:
 - (a) an inspection report, receipt or declaration required to be attached to the motor vehicle under Division 2 of Part 4 was not attached at all material times when the motor vehicle was offered or displayed for sale by the motor dealer,
 - (b) a dealer's notice, or a copy of a dealer's notice, was not given to the purchaser in accordance with the applicable requirements of Division 3 of Part 4,
 - (c) the particulars included in a dealer's notice relating to the motor vehicle were, in the opinion of the court, false or misleading in a material particular,
 - (d) the body of, or mechanical equipment in, the motor vehicle was at the time it was sold by the motor dealer in such a condition that, in the opinion of the court, it is not practicable to comply with the dealer guarantee for the motor vehicle.
- (4) An appeal lies to the Supreme Court against a rescission order made under this section:

118 Rescission orders after findings of guilt

- (1) If a motor dealer is found guilty of an offence under Part 4, the Local Court may, in addition to any other penalty it imposes, make an order that:
 - (a) the sale of a motor vehicle by a motor dealer is rescinded and that the motor vehicle must be returned to the motor dealer, and
 - (b) any amount paid or the value of other consideration given by the purchaser for the motor vehicle must be returned to the purchaser, subject to any financial adjustment between the motor dealer and the purchaser that the Court thinks fit to make.
- (2) The Local Court must not make a rescission order under this section if the cash price for which the motor vehicle was sold exceeds the jurisdictional limit of the Local Court when sitting in its General Division.

119 Difficulty of restoring position no bar to rescission order

Despite any other law, it is not a bar to the making of a rescission order that the parties under any contract or agreement relating to the sale of the motor vehicle or under any credit contract associated with the sale cannot be restored to the positions that existed before the sale because of the time that has elapsed since the date of the sale or the circumstances that have occurred since that date.

120 Effect of rescission orders on rights

- (1) On the rescission of the sale of a motor vehicle under this Division, the liabilities and rights of the purchaser of the motor vehicle under a credit contract under which credit is provided by a person who is a linked credit provider of the motor dealer for the purpose of financing the whole or part of the purchase:
 - (a) are, by force of this section, transferred to the motor dealer, and

- (b) subject to this section, may be enforced against the motor dealer as if the motor dealer were the purchaser.
- (2) On the rescission of the sale of a motor vehicle under this Division, the rights and liabilities of the parties to the contract for the sale of the motor vehicle or any such credit contract are, despite any other law, as specified in the rescission order and any ancillary or consequential orders.

121 Secretary and others have right to be heard before rescission order

A court must not make a rescission order unless it has given the Secretary or a representative of the Secretary, and any other person likely to be affected by the order, an opportunity to be heard.

(Section 130)

1 Interpretation

Words and expressions used in this Schedule have the same meanings as they have in Division 5 of Part 5.

2 General duty of administrator

On the appointment of an administrator taking effect, the administrator must:

- (a) subject to and in accordance with any directions given to the administrator by the Supreme Court, administer the affairs of the person subject to administration until the appointment is terminated, and
- (b) subject to this Act, acquire or take into possession and administer all property to which that person is or appears to be entitled.

3 Administrator may obtain property

- (1) An administrator may, in the administrator's own name or that of the person subject to administration, apply to the Supreme Court for an order for the transfer or delivery of property to the administrator if the person subject to administration fails, wholly or partly, to comply with a requirement to:
 - (a) transfer or deliver to the administrator property in the possession of the person, or
 - (b) permit the administrator to acquire or take possession of property in the possession of the person.
- (2) The Supreme Court may make the order applied for, subject to such conditions (if any) as it thinks fit to impose.
- (3) The Supreme Court may, on application by an administrator, if it appears to the Court that an order made under this clause is not complied with, authorise a police officer, or the administrator or some other person and a police officer:
 - (a) to enter any premises or other place specified in the order, and
 - (b) to search for any property which the administrator is entitled to acquire or take into possession, and

- (5) In this clause, property in the possession of a person includes property at the disposal of or under the control of the person.

4 Dealings with property by administrator

- (1) An administrator:
 - (a) may deal with any property which the administrator has acquired or of which the administrator has taken possession under this Act in any manner in which the person subject to administration might lawfully have dealt with that property, and

- (b) must, as soon as practicable after acquiring or taking possession of that property, deliver that property to such persons as appear to the administrator to be lawfully entitled to it.
- (2) An administrator must apply the property acquired and held by the administrator, or in the possession of the administrator in his or her capacity as administrator, in the following order for the following purposes:
 - (a) firstly, in reimbursing the Secretary in respect of all amounts paid out of the Compensation Fund in settlement in whole or in part of claims made against the Fund in respect of a failure or default of the person subject to administration,
 - (b) secondly, in satisfying or partially satisfying the amounts of claims against that person with respect to the business concerned to the extent that those claims have not otherwise been fully satisfied,
 - (c) thirdly, in paying the amounts incurred by the administrator as expenses of the administration.
- (3) Amounts referred to in subclause (2) rank equally between themselves and are to be paid in full unless the property referred to in that subclause is insufficient for those amounts to be paid, in which case the amounts are to abate in equal proportions between themselves.
- (4) Any property remaining after that application is to be held in trust for the person subject to administration.

5 Powers in relation to property

- (1) Without restricting any power conferred on an administrator by this Act, the administrator may, in his or her own name or in the name of the person subject to administration do any of the following:

 - (c) employ an Australian legal practitioner or other agent to give advice or take or defend proceedings with respect to any matter concerning that business or otherwise to act for the administrator in relation to the administration of the affairs and property of the person,
 - (d) for the purpose of providing sufficient money to make any reimbursement, or to satisfy or pay any amount referred to in clause 4, sell, lease or hire any property that the administrator has acquired or of which the administrator has taken possession under this Act,
 - (e) give receipts for money received by the administrator in the course of and in connection with the administration of the affairs and property of the person.
- (2) A receipt given by the administrator under this clause is an effective discharge of the person paying the money from all responsibility with respect to the application of that money.

6 Property may not be subject of debt recovery proceedings

Property held by or in the possession of an administrator in that capacity must not be levied on or taken or attached under any judgment.

7 Power of administrator to invest money

9 Power of administrator to prohibit withdrawal of money from authorised deposit-taking institution

- (1) An administrator may, by notice in writing given to an authorised deposit-taking institution, prohibit the withdrawal of money from, or any dealing (including the completion of any dealing commenced before the service of the notice) with, an account of the person subject to administration if the administrator has reasonable grounds for believing that the person holds such an account with the institution.
- (2) Without preventing any other mode of service, the notice may be given by leaving the notice and the copy of the order accompanying the notice with the manager of, or the person apparently in charge of, the authorised deposit-taking institution at which the account is kept.
- (3) The authorised deposit-taking institution to which a notice is given must not permit the withdrawal of money from, or any dealing (including the completion of any dealing commenced before the service of the notice) with, any account to which the notice relates except with the authority of the administrator.
- (4) Any authorised deposit-taking institution that contravenes this clause is liable to the administrator in respect of any loss sustained because of that contravention and the amount of that loss may be recovered by the administrator in proceedings taken against the institution in a court of competent jurisdiction.
- (5) The administrator may withdraw from an account referred to in subclause (1) all or any of the money held in that account and pay that money into a special account or special accounts in his or her own name and may operate, and otherwise deal with, that account or those accounts according to law.

10 Claims against property administered by administrator

- (1) An administrator may give to any person (including the person subject to administration) a notice to the effect that, if that person has any claim in respect of any property held by or in the possession of the administrator in that capacity, the claim will not be entertained unless full particulars of the property claimed and the grounds of the claim are submitted to the administrator within the period, being not less than 30 days after the notice is given, specified in the notice.

- (2) On an examination before the Supreme Court, the Court may put or allow to be put to the person being examined such questions as it thinks fit.
- (3) A person examined before the Supreme Court is not excused from answering a question put to the person on the ground that the answer might incriminate the person. If the person claims, before answering the question, that the answer might incriminate the person, neither the question nor the answer is admissible in evidence against the person in criminal proceedings, other than proceedings in relation to the making of a false statement on oath in respect of the answer.
- (4) A person attending for examination under this clause is entitled to be paid such expenses (if any) as the Supreme Court may allow.
- (5) The expenses are to be paid by the administrator and are to form part of the expenses of the administration.

 - (c) if the amount of remuneration agreed to has been paid to the administrator and that amount exceeds the amount determined by the Court, order the excess to be refunded to the person.
- (7) If, in the course of proceedings to recover amounts for expenses of administration from the person subject to administration, it appears to the Supreme Court that the amounts sought to be recovered from the person for the expenses of administration are excessive, the Court may:

- (a) by order, direct that an account be taken between the Secretary and the administrator, and
- (b) by further order or orders, relieve the person from payment of any amount that exceeds the amount the Court determines is fairly payable for those expenses, and
