EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Health Insurance Levies Act 1982 was amended by the State Revenue Legislation (Further Amendment) Act 1992 to vary the method of calculating the monthly levy on providers of health benefits. Instead of being calculated on the basis of the amount of contributions paid, the amount of the levy will be calculated on the basis of the number of single or family contributors covered by the health insurance fund at the beginning of the relevant month. The Act was also amended to dispense with the requirement for a form of return to be prescribed. Instead, the form will be one approved by the Chief Commissioner for Health Insurance Levies.

The object of this Regulation is to amend the Health Insurance Levies Regulation 1982:

- to reflect the change in the method of calculating the monthly levy by omitting provisions dealing with exemptions of certain classes of contributions and by providing instead for exemptions relating to certain classes of contributors; and
- to repeal the prescribed form of monthly return.

The Regulation commences on 1 February 1993, the date of commencement of the relevant amendments to the Health Insurance Levies Act 1982.

This Regulation is made under the Health Insurance Levies Act 1982, as amended by the State Revenue Legislation (Further Amendment) Act 1992, including sections 4, 10A and 11.
