Regulation 117Q..... 102

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The object of this Regulation is:

- (a) to prescribe additional offences under the Motor Traffic Regulations 1935 in respect of which penalty notices (“on-the-spot” fines) may be served; and
- (b) to prescribe the persons who may issue penalty notices in relation to certain of those additional offences (being persons additional to those whose existing authorisation to issue penalty notices will extend to the new offences); and
- (c) to prescribe the penalties for each offence if dealt with by way of the penalty notice (rather than by a court).

The offences concerned are the following:

- (a) driving a motor vehicle past a flashing red signal on a railway level crossing;
- (b) the standing or driving on a public street of a motor vehicle the subject of a specific overdimension permit in contravention of the conditions of the permit;
- (c) the standing or driving on a public street of a motor vehicle the subject of a general overdimension permit in contravention of the conditions of the permit;
- (d) the standing or driving on a public street of a motor vehicle displaying warning signs required by a general overdimension permit if the vehicle is not a vehicle to which such a permit applies.

This Regulation is made under the Traffic Act 1909 and, in particular, under section 3 (the general regulation-making power) and section 18B (Penalty notices for certain offences).
