 - (b) if the Registrar-General is satisfied that a person has contravened the conveyancing rules—may do either or both of the following:
 - (i) suspend any right or other entitlement of the person to lodge documents giving effect to conveyancing transactions, for a period not exceeding 21 days, for a particular contravention,
 - (ii) impose such conditions on any right or other entitlement of the person to lodge documents giving effect to conveyancing transactions as the Registrar-General considers appropriate so as to prevent further contraventions.
- (10) The Registrar-General may waive compliance with all or any provisions of the conveyancing rules if the Registrar-General is satisfied that granting the waiver is reasonable in all the circumstances.

- (11) A waiver under subsection (10) may:
- (a) be total or partial, and
 - (b) apply generally to all persons or conveyancing transactions, or be limited in its application to particular persons or conveyancing transactions or particular classes of persons or conveyancing transactions, and
 - (c) apply generally or be limited in its application by reference to specified exceptions or factors, and
 - (d) apply indefinitely or for a specified period, and

- (2) In this Part, a reference to a legal or equitable estate in land includes a reference to a subsisting interest in land within the meaning of section 28A.

74T Lodgment of priority notices

- (1) A person who intends to lodge a dealing to give effect to an entitlement to a legal or equitable estate or interest in land claimed by the person may lodge a priority notice with the Registrar-General with respect to the proposed dealing and any associated dealings (for example, a mortgage created over land that has been sold).
- (2) A priority notice must be in the approved form and lodged in the manner approved by the Registrar-General.
- (3) A person who has lodged a priority notice with respect to a proposed dealing cannot lodge another priority notice with respect to the same dealing unless all previous notices with respect to that dealing are withdrawn or have otherwise ceased to have effect.

Note. Previous priority notices may be withdrawn for the purposes of this subsection at the same time that the new priority notice is lodged.

- (4) If a priority notice is in the approved form, the Registrar-General may accept lodgment of the priority notice as sufficient evidence that the person who lodged the priority notice, or who had the priority notice lodged on the person's behalf, is entitled to lodge the priority notice.
- (5) Without limiting subsection (4), the Registrar-General may require a person who lodges a priority notice to provide, within a reasonable period specified by the Registrar-General, such evidence as the Registrar-General may require relating to the person's entitlement to lodge the notice or the intended timing for the lodgment of a dealing to which the notice relates.

Note. The Registrar-General may remove a recording of a priority notice under section 74X (2) if evidence that is required under this subsection is not provided.

- (6) The Registrar-General is not required to give any person notice of the lodgment or recording in the Register of a priority notice.

74U Registrar-General to enter particulars of priority notice lodged under this Part

For the purpose only of acknowledging the receipt of a priority notice lodged under this Part, the Registrar-General must, if satisfied that the notice complies with the requirements made in respect of it by and under this Act, record in the Register such particulars of the notice as the Registrar-General considers appropriate (including its current expiry date).

74V Period during which priority notice has effect

- (1) The period during which a priority notice has effect is:
 - (a) 60 days from the date of its lodgment, or
 - (b) if that period is extended under this section—90 days from the date of its lodgment.
- (2) However, a priority notice ceases to have effect before the expiry of its period of duration if:
 - (a) the notice is withdrawn before that expiry, or
 - (b) the dealing or dealings to which the notice relates are lodged before that expiry and the dealing or dealings are registered, withdrawn or rejected by the Registrar-General, or
 - (c) the notice lapses because of the operation of section 74Y (3) before that expiry, or
 - (d) the Registrar-General has removed the recording of the priority notice under section 74X (2) (b), (c) or (d) before that expiry.

- (3) A person who has lodged a priority notice may apply to the Registrar-General, in the approved form and manner, for an extension of the period of a priority notice by a single additional period of 30 days.
- (4) The Registrar-General is to grant an extension if the application is duly made before the expiry of the initial 60-day period.
- (5) If more than one priority notice is lodged with respect to the same land, the period during which each notice has effect is to be determined by reference to the lodgment date for the notice concerned.

74W Effect of priority notice

- (1) While a priority notice has effect with respect to a proposed dealing to give effect to an entitlement to an estate or interest in land, the Registrar-General must not, without the consent of the person who lodged the notice, register:
 - (a) any dealing on the folio of the Register for the land, or
 - (b) any plan (including a plan to which section 88B of the Conveyancing Act 1919 applies) relating to the land.
- (2) Despite subsection (1), the lodgment of a priority notice does not prevent the Registrar-General from registering any of the following in the Register:
 - (a) a dealing in registrable form that was lodged before the notice,
 - (b) the dealing or dealings to which the notice relates,
 - (c) a caveat or the withdrawal or lapsing of a caveat,

 - (g) an application under section 101,
 - (h) in relation to a mortgage, charge or covenant charge recorded or lodged in registrable form before the lodgment of the notice—a dealing effected by the mortgagee, chargee or covenant chargee in the exercise of a power of sale or other power or a right conferred by the mortgage, charge or covenant charge or by or under law,
 - (i) in relation to a lease recorded or lodged in registrable form before the lodgment of the notice—a dealing effected by the lessee pursuant to a right conferred by the lease or by or under law.

Note. In addition to the matters referred to in this subsection, the Registrar-General is not prevented from taking action with respect to any other matters that are not dealings or plans referred to in subsection (1).
- (3) If it appears to the Registrar-General that a dealing lodged during the period in which a priority notice has effect is a dealing to which the notice relates, the Registrar-General may:
 - (a) record the dealing in the Register if satisfied that the dealing is a dealing to which the notice relates, or

- (b) request the parties to the dealing to provide such further information as the Registrar-General may require to assist in determining whether the dealing is a dealing to which the notice relates.

74X Withdrawal and removal of priority notice

- (1) Each of the following persons may withdraw a priority notice, in the approved form and in the manner approved by the Registrar-General, at any time before a priority notice ceases to have effect:
 - (a) the person who has lodged a priority notice or whose proposed dealing is protected by the notice,
 - (b) an Australian legal practitioner or licensed conveyancer who is representing that person.
- (2) The Registrar-General may remove a recording in the Register of a priority notice if the Registrar-General is satisfied that:
 - (a) the notice has ceased to have effect, or
 - (b) the notice does not relate to the land to which the notice purports to relate, or
 - (c) the dealing or dealings to which the notice relates are unlikely to be lodged or recorded in the Register before the notice ceases to have effect, or
 - (d) the person who lodged the notice has not provided evidence required by the Registrar-General under section 74T (5) within the period specified by the Registrar-General.

74Y Application to Supreme Court for withdrawal of priority notice

- (1) Any person who is or claims to be entitled to an estate or interest in the land described in a priority notice may apply to the Supreme Court for an order that the notice be withdrawn by the person who lodged it.
- (2) If satisfied that it is appropriate to do so in the circumstances, the Supreme Court may:
 - (a) order the person who lodged the priority notice to withdraw it, and
 - (b) make such other or further orders as it thinks fit.
- (3) If the Supreme Court makes an order for the withdrawal of a priority notice and the notice is not withdrawn within the period specified by the order, the notice lapses when a copy of the order is lodged with the Registrar-General after that time expires.

74Z Compensation payable in certain cases

- (1) Any person who, without reasonable cause:
 - (a) lodges a priority notice, or
 - (b) refuses or fails to withdraw a priority notice after being requested to do so,is liable to pay compensation to any person who sustains pecuniary loss that is attributable to the lodgment, refusal or failure.
