

New South Wales

Commencement Proclamation

under the

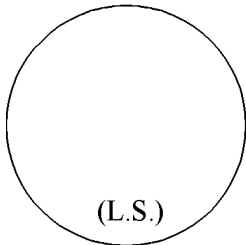

Children's Guardian Amendment (Child Safe Scheme) Act 2021 No 30

ANDREW SCOTT BELL, Administrator

I, the Honourable Chief Justice Andrew Scott Bell, Administrator of the State of New South Wales, with the advice of the Executive Council, and in pursuance of section 2 of the Children's Guardian Amendment (Child Safe Scheme) Act 2021, do, by this my Proclamation, appoint 1 September 2022 as the day on which that Act, Schedule 1[3], to the extent that it inserts sections 8J(c) and 8L(1)(b) of the Children's Guardian Act 2019, commences.

Signed and sealed at Sydney, this 24th day of August 2022.

By His Honour's Command,

NATASHA MACLAREN-JONES, MLC

Minister for Families and Communities

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN!

Explanatory note

The object of this Proclamation is to commence provisions amending the Children's Guardian Act 2019 to provide for regulations to be made to prescribe—

- (a) for an agency that provides services to Aboriginal children and is required to consult with 1 or more Aboriginal controlled entities—the classes of Aboriginal controlled entities that may be consulted, and
- (b) the ways a prescribed agency may make its child safe action plan available, in addition to publication of the plan on the agency's website.
