New South Wales

Compulsory Drug Treatment Correctional Centre Bill 2004

Explanatory note

Overview of Bill

The object of this Bill is to amend certain Acts of Parliament to establish a scheme to provide for the compulsory treatment and rehabilitation of recidivist drug offenders.

Under the proposed compulsory drug treatment scheme, certain eligible convicted drug offenders are to be referred to the Drug Court of New South Wales (the Drug Court) for assessment. To be eligible for the program a drug offender must:

- (a) appear to have a long-term drug dependency, and
- (b) have been convicted of an offence related to the offender's drug dependency and lifestyle and been sentenced to imprisonment with an unexpired non-parole period of at least 18 months but not more than 3 years, and
- (c) have been convicted of other offences at least 3 times in the previous 5 years.

exposure draft

Compulsory Drug Treatment Correctional Centre Bill 2004

Explanatory note

If it is determined by the Drug Court that a drug offender is eligible and suitable, the Drug Court will be empowered to order that the drug offender serve his or her sentence of imprisonment by way of compulsory drug treatment detention in the Compulsory Drug Treatment Correctional Centre (to be established for the purposes of this scheme) and later in the community.

While a drug offender is serving a sentence by way of compulsory drug treatment detention, the offender will be required to comply with a compulsory drug treatment personal plan prepared for the offender. The personal plan will contain conditions relating to conduct and good behaviour, attendance for counselling or other treatment, the management of the offender in the Compulsory Drug Treatment Correctional Centre, periodic drug testing that the offender must undergo and involvement in activities, courses, training or employment for the purpose of promoting the re-integration of the offender into the community.

Compulsory drug treatment detention under the proposed scheme is to consist of three stages: closed detention (Stage 1), semi-open detention (Stage 2) and community custody (Stage 3). Under closed detention (Stage 1), the drug offender is to be kept in full-time custody at the Compulsory Drug Treatment Correctional Centre. Under semi-open detention (Stage 2), the drug offender is to be kept in the Compulsory Drug Treatment Correctional Centre with leave approved by the Commissioner of Corrective Services to allow the offender to attend employment, training or social programs. Under community custody (Stage 3), the drug offender may reside outside the Compulsory Drug Treatment Correctional Centre under intensive supervision at accommodation approved by the Drug Court. An offender will be able to progress from one stage of detention to a higher stage after the offender has served at least 6 months in the stage, but only on the order of the Drug Court after comprehensive assessment reports relating to the offender have been prepared. The Drug Court will also be empowered to regress a drug offender to a lower stage of detention if the offender has failed to comply with his or her personal plan.

If a drug offender has progressed under the proposed scheme to semi-open detention (Stage 2) or community custody (Stage 3) and is eligible to spend time outside the Compulsory Drug Treatment Correctional Centre, the Drug Court is to impose a community supervision order on the offender. A community supervision order may contain conditions relating to the supervision of the offender outside the Compulsory Drug Treatment Correctional Centre (for example, by way of electronic monitoring), conditions relating to drug testing that the offender must undergo and conditions relating to residence, association with other persons or attendance at specified locations.

Compulsory Drug Treatment Correctional Centre Bill 2004

Explanatory note

The Drug Court is to supervise the drug offender while the offender is serving the offender's sentence by way of compulsory drug treatment detention. The Drug Court will be empowered to impose sanctions on and grant rewards to the offender in response to the offender's level of compliance with his or her compulsory drug treatment personal plan. If necessary, the Drug Court will be able to terminate a drug offender's participation in the compulsory drug treatment scheme and return the offender to full-time detention in the normal correctional centre system.

The Drug Court also is to act as the parole authority in relation to drug offenders serving their sentences by way of compulsory drug treatment detention. It will determine whether such an offender is to be released on parole and the conditions of that parole.
