Assistant Speaker of the Legislative Assembly.

The Legislature of New South Wales enacts:

This Act is the Justice Legislation Amendment Act 2018.

[1] Section 25 Discrimination against applicants and employees

Omit section 25 (1A) and (2A).

[2] Schedule 1 Savings and transitional provisions

Insert at the end of clause 1 (1):

any other Act that amends this Act

Explanatory note

Item [1] of the proposed amendments removes 2 exemptions to the general prohibition on discrimination on the ground of sex. The exemptions allowed an employer to not offer a pregnant woman a job or to dismiss a pregnant woman from her job if the woman was pregnant at the time she applied for or was interviewed for the job.

Item [2] enables savings and transitional regulations to be made as a consequence of the enactment of the proposed Act or any other Act that amends the Anti-Discrimination Act 1977.

- (b) order that the child be separately represented.

(4B) The Tribunal may, at its discretion, revoke any appointment or order made under subsection (4) or (4A).

[2] Section 45 (5)

Insert “or (4A) (b)” after “subsection (4) (c)”.

[3] Section 45 (6)

Omit “a party to proceedings”. Insert instead “a party or other person”.

Explanatory note

Item [1] of the proposed amendments enables the Civil and Administrative Tribunal (NCAT) to appoint a person to act as a separate representative or guardian ad litem for a child in proceedings that directly or significantly affect the child, where the child is not a party to the proceedings. Items [2]–[4] are consequential amendments.

Item [5] provides that parties to proceedings under the Community Services (Complaints, Reviews and Monitoring) Act 1993 in the Administrative and Equal Opportunity Division of NCAT are entitled to be represented by an Australian legal practitioner without NCAT having to grant leave. This is currently the case in all other proceedings under that Division.

Item [6] provides that a statement of written reasons is not required to be provided to the parties to proceedings in NCAT’s Guardianship Division that relate to certain provisions of the Guardianship Act 1987 irrespective of how many NCAT members are hearing the proceedings. Currently, a written statement of reasons is not required if the proceedings are heard by less than 3 NCAT members. The general requirement for NCAT to provide a written statement of reasons in any proceedings if requested to do so by a party to the proceedings continues to apply.
