Explanatory note

This explanatory note relates to this Bill as introduced into Parliament.

Overview of Bill

The object of this Bill is to amend the Constitution Act 1902 to enable members of Parliament to attend meetings of Houses of Parliament remotely.

More specifically, the amendments provide that, for the purposes of provisions of the Constitution Act 1902 relating to ascertaining a quorum for, or determining a question in, a House of Parliament, a member of Parliament is taken to be present at a meeting of the House if the member attends the meeting remotely using an audio or audio visual link, or another method of communication, in accordance with—

(a) the standing rules and orders of the House, or

(b) a resolution or sessional order of the House.

The new provision has effect for a House of Parliament only if the Presiding Officer of the House has declared that a public emergency exists, including a public health crisis, natural disaster, major accident, civil disturbance or act of terrorism, and it is not safe or practicable for Members of the House to meet in person.

The Bill also provides for the repeal of the amendments 5 years after the commencement of the proposed provisions.
