

[Act 1995 No 54]

Parliamentary Electorates and Elections Amendment (Method of Voting) Bill 1995

Explanatory note

This explanatory note relates to this Bill as introduced into Parliament.*

Overview of Bill

The object of this Bill is to ensure that a voter records a valid first preference vote (in a Legislative Assembly election) if the voter places a tick or a cross in one voting square and has not marked any other voting square. A tick or a cross is considered sufficient by itself to indicate a first preference. A tick or a cross is at present a valid method of voting in Legislative Council elections.

The Bill also restores the principle that a ballot-paper is valid if a tick is placed in one voting square and crosses or lines are placed in or through the other voting squares.
