Crimes (Appeal and Review) Amendment (Double Jeopardy) Bill 2006

Explanatory note

This explanatory note relates to this Bill as introduced into Parliament.

The Crimes (Appeal and Review) Amendment (DNA Review Panel) Bill 2006 is cognate with this Bill.

Overview of Bill

The objects of this Bill are:

- (a) to enable a person acquitted of an offence to be retried (in the case of a life sentence offence) if there is fresh and compelling evidence of guilt, and
- (b) to enable a person acquitted of an offence to be retried (in the case of a 15 years or more sentence offence) if the acquittal was tainted by the commission of an administration of justice offence, and
- (c) to provide that the Crown may appeal against the acquittal of a person on a question of law where the acquittal was directed by the trial Judge or made at trial by a Judge without a jury.

Explanatory note

Outline of provisions

Clause 1 sets out the name (also called the short title) of the proposed Act.

Clause 2 provides for the commencement of the proposed Act on a day or days to be appointed by proclamation.

Clause 3 is a formal provision giving effect to the principal amendments to the Crimes (Local Courts Appeal and Review) Act 2001 set out in Schedule 1. That Act (referred to in this explanatory note as the Principal Act) is to be renamed the Crimes (Appeal and Review) Act 2001 as a consequence of the inclusion of the proposed amendments relating to the review of acquittals in any court.

Clause 4 is a formal provision giving effect to consequential, ancillary and minor amendments to the Principal Act and the Criminal Appeal Act 1912 set out in Schedule 2.

Clause 5 provides for the repeal of the proposed Act after all the amendments made by the proposed Act have commenced. Once the amendments have commenced the proposed Act will be spent and section 30 of the Interpretation Act 1987 provides that the repeal of an amending Act does not affect the amendments made by that Act.

Schedule 1 Principal amendments

Schedule 1 [1] inserts a definition of acquittal into the Principal Act in connection with the provisions relating to the retrial of acquitted persons. The definition makes it clear that “acquittal” extends to acquittals in appeal proceedings or at the direction of a court.

Schedule 1 [2] inserts a new Part 8 into the Principal Act dealing with acquittals (including the retrial of persons who have been acquitted and appeals on questions of law).

The new Part 8 contains the following provisions:

Division 1 Preliminary (proposed section 98).

Proposed section 98 defines words and expressions used in the Part. For the purposes of the Part, life sentence offence will, on the enactment of the Part, include the following offences:

- (a) murder (section 19A of the Crimes Act 1900),

Explanatory note page 2

Explanatory note

- (b) an offence under section 61JA (1) of the Crimes Act 1900 (Aggravated sexual assault in company),
- (c) an offence under section 23 (2), 24 (2), 25 (2), 25 (2A), 26, 27 or 28 of the Drug Misuse and Trafficking Act 1985, being an offence that relates to a large commercial quantity of certain prohibited plants or drugs.

Division 2 Retrial after acquittal for very serious offence (proposed sections 99–106).

Proposed section 99 provides that the Division applies where a person is acquitted of an offence and according to the rules on double jeopardy the person is thereby precluded from being retried for the same offence. The Division applies to persons acquitted before the commencement of the Division.

Proposed section 100 enables the Court of Criminal Appeal to order an acquitted person to be retried for a life sentence offence if satisfied that:

- (a) there is fresh and compelling evidence against the acquitted person in relation to the offence, and
- (b) in all the circumstances it is in the interests of justice for the order to be made.

Proposed section 101 enables the Court of Criminal Appeal to order an acquitted person to be retried for an offence punishable for 15 years or more if satisfied that:

- (a) the acquittal is a tainted acquittal, and
- (b) in all the circumstances it is in the interests of justice for the order to be made.

Proposed section 102 defines fresh and compelling evidence. The evidence must be evidence that was not adduced at the earlier trial (and could not have been adduced with the exercise of reasonable diligence) and the evidence must be reliable, substantial and highly probative of the case against the acquitted person.

Proposed section 103 defines a tainted acquittal. The acquittal is tainted if there has been an administration of justice offence (eg bribery) committed in connection with the acquittal, and it is more likely than not that the accused person would have been convicted but for the commission of that offence.

Proposed section 104 sets out the matters to be considered by the Court of Criminal Appeal in determining whether it is in the interests of justice to order the retrial of an acquitted person (including whether it is likely the person will receive a fair retrial, the length of time since the acquittal and whether police or prosecutors have failed to act with reasonable diligence).

Explanatory note

Proposed section 105 sets out the procedure to be followed on an application for a retrial. Not more than one application for a retrial may be made in respect of an acquittal.

Proposed section 106 deals with a retrial of an acquitted person ordered under the Division.

Division 3 Appeals on questions of law (proposed sections 107 and 108).

Proposed section 107 enables the Crown to appeal against an acquittal on a question of law if the jury was directed to acquit by the trial Judge or if the proceedings were tried by a Judge without a jury. If the Court of Criminal Appeal upholds the appeal, it may order a new trial, but cannot proceed to a conviction or order the court conducting a new trial to enter a conviction.

Proposed section 108 transfers to the Principal Act provisions of section 5A of the Criminal Appeal Act 1912 that allow the Crown to appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeal against an acquittal on a point of law without affecting the acquittal if the appeal is upheld.

Division 4 Miscellaneous (proposed sections 109–112).

Proposed section 109 requires the authorisation by the Director of Public Prosecutions of a police investigation into the commission of an offence by an acquitted person for the purposes of an application for a retrial under the Part.

Proposed section 110 provides a presumption in favour of bail if an acquitted person is arrested for the purposes of an application for retrial under the Part.

Proposed section 111 prohibits (without court approval) the publication of information about police investigations, applications for retrial and retrials under the Part.

Proposed section 112 provides that the Part does not affect other appeal and review rights.

Schedule 1 [3] requires the proposed new Part 8 to be reviewed after 5 years.

Schedule 2 Other amendments

Schedule 2.1 further amends the Crimes (Local Courts Appeal and Review) Act 2001.

Explanatory note page 4

Crimes (Appeal and Review) Amendment (Double Jeopardy) Bill 2006

Explanatory note

Schedule 2.1 [2] renames the Crimes (Local Courts Appeal and Review) Act 2001 as the Crimes (Appeal and Review) Act 2001 as a consequence of the inclusion of the proposed amendments relating to the review of acquittals in any court. Provisions relating to ordinary appeals against sentence or conviction to the Court of Criminal Appeal remain in the Criminal Appeal Act 1912. Schedule 2.1 [1] makes a consequential amendment.

Schedule 2.1 [3] renumbers a Part and sections of the Principal Act to facilitate the inclusion of the additional provisions into the Principal Act.

Schedule 2.1 [4] enables regulations of a savings and transitional nature to be made consequent on the enactment of the proposed Act.

Schedule 2.2 amends the Criminal Appeal Act 1912. Schedule 2.2 [1] repeals section 5A (2) and (3) of the Act as a consequence of the transfer of those provisions to Part 8 of the Principal Act. Schedule 2.2 [2] amends section 5B of the Act to enable the Court of Criminal Appeal to set aside a conviction or acquittal entered by the District Court on appeal from a Local Court as a result of the determination of a question of law referred by the District Court to the Court of Criminal Appeal after the District Court has dealt with a matter. Schedule 2.2 [3] makes a consequential amendment.

100	Court of Criminal Appeal may order retrial—fresh and compelling evidence	1 2

(a)	there is fresh and compelling evidence against the acquitted person in relation to the offence, and	6 7
(b)	in all the circumstances it is in the interests of justice for the order to be made.	8 9
(2)	If the Court of Criminal Appeal orders an acquitted person to be retried, the Court is to quash the person’s acquittal or remove the acquittal as a bar to the person being retried for the offence (as the case requires).	10 11 12 13
(3)	The Court of Criminal Appeal may order a person to be retried for a life sentence offence under this section even if the person had been charged with and acquitted of manslaughter or other lesser offence.	14 15 16 17
(4)	The Court of Criminal Appeal cannot order a person to be retried for a life sentence offence under this section where the person had been charged with and acquitted of the life sentence offence but had been convicted instead of manslaughter or other lesser offence.	18 19 20 21 22
101	Court of Criminal Appeal may order retrial—tainted acquittals	23
(1)	The Court of Criminal Appeal may, on the application of the Director of Public Prosecutions, order an acquitted person to be retried for a 15 years or more sentence offence if satisfied that:	24 25 26
(a)	the acquittal is a tainted acquittal, and	27
(b)	in all the circumstances it is in the interests of justice for the order to be made.	28 29
(2)	If the Court of Criminal Appeal orders an acquitted person to be retried, the Court is to quash the person’s acquittal or remove the acquittal as a bar to the person being retried for the offence (as the case requires).	30 31 32 33

(1)	This section applies for the purpose of determining under this Division whether there is fresh and compelling evidence against an acquitted person in relation to an offence.	6 7 8
(2)	Evidence is fresh if:	9
(a)	it was not adduced in the proceedings in which the person was acquitted, and	10 11
(b)	it could not have been adduced in those proceedings with the exercise of reasonable diligence.	12 13
(3)	Evidence is compelling if:	14
(a)	it is reliable, and	15
(b)	it is substantial, and	16
(c)	in the context of the issues in dispute in the proceedings in which the person was acquitted, it is highly probative of the case against the acquitted person.	17 18 19
(4)	Evidence that would be admissible on a retrial under this Division is not precluded from being fresh and compelling evidence merely because it would have been inadmissible in the earlier proceedings against the acquitted person.	20 21 22 23
103	Tainted acquittals—meaning	24
(1)	This section applies for the purpose of determining under this Division whether the acquittal of an accused person is a tainted acquittal.	25 26 27

(4)	If the conviction for the administration of justice offence is, on appeal, quashed after the Court of Criminal Appeal has ordered the acquitted person to be retried under this Division because of the conviction, the person may apply to the Court to set aside the order and:	6 7 8 9 10
(a)	to restore the acquittal that was quashed, or	11
(b)	to restore the acquittal as a bar to the person being retried for the offence,	12 13
	as the case requires.	14

(1)	This section applies for the purpose of determining under this Division whether it is in the interests of justice for an order to be made for the retrial of an acquitted person.	16 17 18
(2)	It is not in the interests of justice to make an order for the retrial of an acquitted person unless the Court of Criminal Appeal is satisfied that a fair retrial is likely in the circumstances.	19 20 21
(3)	The Court is to have regard in particular to:	22
(a)	the length of time since the acquitted person allegedly committed the offence, and	23 24
(b)	whether any police officer or prosecutor has failed to act with reasonable diligence or expedition in connection with the application for the retrial of the acquitted person.	25 26 27 28
105	Application for retrial—procedure	29
(1)	Not more than one application for the retrial of an acquitted person may be made under this Division in relation to an acquittal. An application cannot be made in relation to an acquittal resulting from a retrial under this Part.	30 31 32 33

- (2) An application for the retrial of an acquitted person cannot be made under this Division unless the person has been charged with the offence for which a retrial is sought or a warrant has been issued for the person's arrest in connection with such an offence. 1
5
- Note. Section 109 requires the Director of Public Prosecutions' approval for the arrest of the accused or for the issue of a warrant for his or her arrest. 6
8
- (3) The application is to be made not later than 28 days after the person is so charged with that offence or the warrant is so issued for the person's arrest. The Court of Criminal Appeal may extend that period for good cause. 9 10
12
- (4) The Court of Criminal Appeal must consider the application at a hearing. 13
14
- (5) The person to whom the application relates is entitled to be present and heard at the hearing (whether or not the person is in custody). However, the application can be determined even if the person is not present so long as the person has been given a reasonable opportunity to be present. 15
16
17
18
19
- (6) The powers of the Court of Criminal Appeal under section 12 of the Criminal Appeal Act 1912 may be exercised in connection with the hearing of the application. 20 21
22
- (7) The Court of Criminal Appeal may at one hearing consider more than one application under this Division for a retrial (whether or not relating to the same person), but only if the offences concerned should be tried on the same indictment. 23
24
26
- (8) If the Court of Criminal Appeal determines in proceedings on an application under this Division that the acquittal is not a bar to the person being retried for the offence concerned, it must make a declaration to that effect. 27
28
29
30
- 106 Retrial 31
- (1) An indictment for the retrial of a person that has been ordered under this Division cannot, without the leave of the Court of Criminal Appeal, be presented after the end of the period of 2 months after the order was made. 32
33
34
35
- (2) The Court must not give leave unless it is satisfied that: 36
- (a) the prosecutor has acted with reasonable expedition, and 37

(b)	there is good and sufficient cause for the retrial despite the lapse of time since the order was made.	1 2
(3)	If, after the end of the period of 2 months after an order for the retrial of an accused person was made under this Division, an indictment for the retrial of the person has not been presented or has been withdrawn or quashed, the person may apply to the Court of Criminal Appeal to set aside the order for the retrial and:	3 4 5 6 7 8
(a)	to restore the acquittal that was quashed, or	9
(b)	to restore the acquittal as a bar to the person being tried for the offence,	10 11
	as the case requires.	12
(4)	If the order is set aside, a further application cannot be made under this Division for the retrial of the accused person in respect of the offence concerned.	13 14 15
(5)	At the retrial of an accused person, the prosecution is not entitled to refer to the fact that the Court of Criminal Appeal has found that it appears that there is fresh and compelling evidence against the acquitted person or, as the case requires, that it is more likely than not that, but for the commission of the administration of justice offence, the accused person would have been convicted.	16 17 18 19 20 21 22
Division 3	Appeals on questions of law	23
107	Directed jury acquittals or acquittals in trials without juries	24
(1)	This section applies to the acquittal of a person:	25

(c)	by the Supreme Court or the Land and Environment Court in its summary jurisdiction in any proceedings in which the Crown was a party.	30 31 32
(2)	The Attorney General or the Director of Public Prosecutions may appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeal against any such acquittal on any ground that involves a question of law alone.	33 34 35

- (3) An appeal may be made within 28 days after the acquittal or, with the leave of the Court of Criminal Appeal, may be made after that period. 1
- (4) The accused person is entitled to be present and heard at the appeal. However, the appeal can be determined even if the person is not present so long as the person has been given a reasonable opportunity to be present. 4
7
- (5) The Court of Criminal Appeal may affirm or quash the acquittal appealed against. 8 9
- (6) If the acquittal is quashed, the Court of Criminal Appeal may order a new trial in such manner as the Court thinks fit. For that purpose, the Court may (subject to the Bail Act 1978) order the detention or return to custody of the accused person in connection with the new trial. 10
11
12
13
14
- (7) If the acquittal is quashed, the Court of Criminal Appeal cannot proceed to convict or sentence the accused person for the offence charged nor direct the court conducting the new trial to do so. 15
16
17
18
- (8) This section does not apply to a person who was acquitted before the commencement of this section. 19 20
- Note. See section 5C of the Criminal Appeal Act 1912 for appeals against the quashing of an indictment. 21
22

28
29
- (2) The Attorney General or the Director of Public Prosecutions may submit for determination by the Court of Criminal Appeal any question of law arising at or in connection with the trial (together with a statement of the circumstances out of which the question arose). The Court is to hear and determine any such question. 30
31
32
33
34
35

(3) The determination by the Court of Criminal Appeal of the question submitted does not in any way affect or invalidate the verdict of acquittal or any other decision given at the trial.	1 2 3
(4) Any person charged at the trial or affected by the decision is entitled to be heard before the Court of Criminal Appeal on the determination of the question submitted. If the person does not propose to be represented, the Attorney General or Director of Public Prosecutions is to instruct (and pay the reasonable costs of) counsel to argue the question before the Court on behalf of the person.	4 5 6 7 8 9 10

(2) For the purposes of this section, a police investigation is an investigation that involves:	26 27
(a) any arrest, questioning or search of the acquitted person (or the issue of a warrant for the arrest of the person), or	28 29
(b) any forensic procedure carried out on the person or any search or seizure of premises or property of or occupied by the person,	30 31 32
whether with or without his or her consent.	33

- (3) A police officer is not to carry out or authorise a police investigation to which this section applies unless the Director of Public Prosecutions:
- (a) has advised that in his or her opinion the acquittal would not be a bar to the trial of the acquitted person in this State for the offence, or
 - (b) has given his or her written consent to the police investigation on the application in writing of the Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner of Police.
- (4) The Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner of Police may make an application for the police investigation only if satisfied that relevant evidence for the purposes of an application for a retrial under Division 2 has been obtained or is likely to be obtained as a result of the investigation.
- (5) The Director of Public Prosecutions may not give his or her consent to the police investigation unless satisfied that:
- (a) there is, or there is likely as a result of the investigation to be, sufficient new evidence to warrant the conduct of the investigation, and
 - (b) it is in the public interest for the investigation to proceed.
- 110 Bail
- (1) This section has effect despite anything to the contrary in the Bail Act 1978.
- (2) There is a presumption in favour of bail in respect of a person who is charged with an offence for which a retrial is sought under Division 2 until the application is dealt with.
- 111 Restrictions on publication
- (1) A person must not publish any matter for the purpose of identifying or having the effect of identifying:
- (a) an acquitted person the subject of a police investigation referred to in section 109 (or of an application for authority for such an investigation), or

(b)	an acquitted person the subject of an application for a retrial under Division 2 or an appeal under Division 3, or	1 2 3
(c)	the acquitted person the subject of an order for retrial under this Part or who is being retried under this Part, unless the publication is authorised by order of the Court of Criminal Appeal or of the court before which the acquitted person is being retried.	4 5 6 7 8
(2)	The relevant court may make an order under this section only if the court is satisfied that it is in the interests of justice to do so.	9 10 11
(3)	Before making an order under this section, the Court is to give the acquitted person a reasonable opportunity to be heard on the application for the order.	12 13 14
(4)	The Court may at any time vary or revoke an order under this section.	15 16
(5)	The prohibition on publication under this section ceases to have effect (subject to any order under this section):	17 18
(a)	when there is no longer any step that could be taken which would lead to the acquitted person being retried under this Part, or	19 20 21
(b)	if the acquitted person is retried under this Part, at the conclusion of the trial, whichever is the earliest.	22 23 24
(6)	Nothing in this section affects any prohibition of the publication of any matter under any other Act or law.	25 26
(7)	A contravention of the prohibition on publication under this section is punishable as contempt of the Supreme Court.	27 28
112	Other appeal or review rights not affected	29
