 - (a) the Attorney General, or

- (2) The court has jurisdiction with respect to the conduct of proceedings on indictment as soon as the indictment is presented and the accused is arraigned, and any orders that may be made by the court for the purposes of the trial in the absence of a jury may be made before a jury is empanelled for the trial.

 - (a) to making an order under section 556A of the Crimes Act 1900 relating to the person, and
 - (b) to deferring the imposition of a penalty on the person, and
 - (c) to making a decision or an order requiring or permitting the person to enter into a recognizance, and
 - (d) to making a decision or an order to remand the person in custody or to remand or release the person (whether or not on conditions), and

- (3) This Part applies:
 - (a) to a person who is found guilty of an offence committed before or after the commencement of this Part, and
 - (b) so as to allow an offence committed before or after that commencement to be taken into account under this Part.

21 Outstanding charges may be taken into account

- (1) If a person is found guilty of an offence and the court is satisfied that:
 - (a) a document in the form prescribed for the purposes of this section is filed in the court, and
 - (b) the document contains a list of one or more other offences with which the person has been charged but of which the person has not been convicted, and
 - (c) the document has been signed by the person and:
 - (i) by the Director of Public Prosecutions, or
 - (ii) for and on behalf of the Director of Public Prosecutions, by a specified person, or a person of a specified class, authorised by order in writing by the Director of Public Prosecutions to sign documents under this section, or

(iii) by a prescribed person or a person of a prescribed class, and

(d) a copy of the document has been given to the person found guilty, and

(e) in all the circumstances it is proper to do so,

the court may, with the consent of the prosecutor and before dealing with the person for the offence of which the person has been found guilty, ask the person whether the person admits guilt in respect of all or any of the offences specified in the list and wishes them to be taken into account by the court in so dealing with the person.

(2) If the person:

(a) admits guilt in respect of all or any of the offences specified in the list, and

(b) wishes to have them taken into account by the court in dealing with the person for the offence of which the person has been found guilty, the court may, if it thinks fit, in imposing a penalty on the person for the offence of which the person has been found guilty, take into account all or any of the offences in respect of which the person has admitted guilt.

(3) If the court takes into account under this section all or any of the offences in respect of which the person has admitted guilt, the penalty imposed on the person for the offence of which the person has been found guilty shall not exceed the maximum penalty that the court would have been empowered to impose on the person for the offence if no offence had been so taken into account.

(4) A court may take any offence into account under this section if it is of a kind for which the court has jurisdiction to impose a penalty, whether or not that jurisdiction requires the consent of the accused.

(5) Despite subsection (4):

(a) an indictable offence punishable with penal servitude for life cannot be taken into account under this section, and

(b) the Court of Criminal Appeal, Supreme Court or District Court may take any summary offence into account under this section.

(6) This section applies in relation to a document:

(a) that is in or to the effect of the form contained, before the commencement of this Part, in the Ninth Schedule to the Crimes Act 1900, and

(b) that was, before that commencement, filed in a court in accordance with section 447B of the Crimes Act 1900, in the same way as it applies to a document in the form prescribed for the purposes of this section and signed in accordance with subsection (1) (c) that has been filed in the court.

22 Orders and directions relating to offences taken into account

(1) If an offence is taken into account under section 21 in a case in which a document in the form prescribed for the purposes of that section is filed in a court, the court may make such orders or give such directions under any Act or law with respect to:

- (a) restitution, and
- (b) compensation, and
- (c) costs, and
- (d) forfeiture, and
- (e) disqualification, and
- (f) loss or suspension of a licence or privilege,

as it would have been empowered to make or give if the person had been convicted by the court of the offence when the offence was taken into account, but shall not otherwise impose any separate punishment for the offence.

(2) If the court makes any such order or gives any such direction in respect of an offence taken into account, there shall be such rights of appeal in respect of the order or direction as there would have been if the order or direction had been made or given on the conviction of the person for that offence.

(3) Any such order or direction in respect of an offence taken into account lapses, by force of this subsection, if the decision in respect of which the offence was taken into account is quashed or set aside.

23 Consequences of taking offences into account

(1) If an offence is taken into account under section 21, the court shall certify, on the document filed under that section, that the offence was so taken into account.

(2) Subsequently, no proceedings shall be taken or continued in respect of the offence unless the decision in respect of which the offence has been taken into account is quashed or set aside.

(3) This section does not prevent offences taken into account under section 21 in deferring the imposition of a penalty from being taken into account under that section when imposing the penalty the imposition of which was deferred.

(4) An admission of guilt made for the purposes of section 21 is not admissible in evidence in any proceedings relating:

(a) to the offence in respect of which the admission was made, or

(b) to any other offence specified in the list contained in the document filed in the court.

(5) An offence taken into account under section 21 shall not, because of its being so taken into account, be regarded for any purpose as an offence of which a person has been convicted.

(6) In or in relation to any criminal proceedings, reference may lawfully be made to, or evidence may lawfully be given of, the fact that an offence was taken into account under section 21 in imposing a penalty for an offence of which a person was found guilty if, in or in relation to those proceedings:

(a) reference may lawfully be made to, or evidence may lawfully be given of, the fact that the person was found guilty or convicted of the lastmentioned offence, and

(b) had the person been found guilty or convicted of the offence so taken into account, reference could lawfully have been made to, or evidence could lawfully have been given of, the fact that the person had been found guilty or convicted of that offence.

(7) The fact that an offence was taken into account under section 21 may be proved in the same manner as the decision in respect of which it was taken into account may be proved.

(8) This section applies in relation to an offence certified under section 447B of the Crimes Act 1900 as having been taken into account in the same way as it applies in relation to an offence certified under this section as having been taken into account.

23C When victim impact statements may be received and considered by court

- (1) The Supreme Court or the District Court may receive and consider a victim impact statement relating to an offence, if the court considers it appropriate to do so, after a person has been convicted of the offence and before the court determines the punishment for the offence.
- (2) A victim impact statement may also be received and considered by the Supreme Court when it determines an application under section 13A of the Sentencing Act 1989 for the determination of a minimum term and an additional term for an existing life sentence referred to in that section.
- (3) The Supreme Court or the District Court must receive a victim impact statement given by a family victim under this section and acknowledge its receipt and may make any comment on it that the court considers appropriate. However, the court must not consider the statement in connection with the determination of the punishment for the offence unless the court considers that it is appropriate to do so.
- (4) This section applies, in relation to a victim impact statement given by a family victim, to the Children's Court and a Local Court in the same way as it applies to the Supreme Court and the District Court.

23D Victim impact statements discretionary

- (1) The giving of a victim impact statement is not mandatory.
- (2) A victim impact statement may not be received or considered by a court if the victim or any of the victims to whom the statement relates objects to the statement being given to the court.
- (3) The absence of a victim impact statement is not to give rise to an inference that an offence had little or no impact on a victim.

23E Formal requirements for victim impact statements

- (1) A victim impact statement must be in writing and comply with such other requirements as may be prescribed by the regulations.

- (2) If a primary victim is incapable of providing information for or objecting to a victim impact statement about the personal harm suffered by the victim, a family member or other representative of the victim may, subject to the regulations, act on behalf of the victim for that purpose.
- (3) A court may only receive and consider a victim impact statement if it is given in accordance with and complies with the requirements prescribed by or under this Part.
