- (c) in the case of a community service order under section 79 of the Fines Act 1996, until the order is revoked or satisfied in accordance with that Act, whichever first occurs.

Subdivision 2 Administration of community service orders

111 Assignment of officer by Commissioner

On receiving a copy of a community service order sent under section 93 of the Crimes (Sentencing Procedure) Act 1999 or section 80 of the Fines Act 1996, the Commissioner must assign a probation and parole officer or, if the regulations so provide, a person other than a probation and parole officer, to administer the order.

112 Performance of community service work

(1) An offender:

- (a) must perform, for the required number of hours, such community service work as the offender's assigned officer directs, and
- (b) while performing that work, must comply with the directions of the offender's assigned officer and of the offender's supervisors from time to time.

(2) In the case of a community service order that recommends that the work to be performed by the offender should include:

- (a) the removal or obliteration of graffiti from buildings, vehicles, vessels and places, and
- (b) the restoration of the appearance of buildings, vehicles, vessels and places consequent on the removal or obliteration of graffiti from them, the work performed by the offender must, if practicable, include such work.

113 Increase in hours of community service work

- (1) The Commissioner may from time to time direct that an offender's required number of hours be increased if of the opinion:
 - (a) that the offender has failed, without reasonable excuse, to comply with the offender's obligations under the order, and
 - (b) that the offender's failure to comply with those obligations was trivial in nature or that there are good reasons for excusing the offender's failure to comply with those obligations.
- (2) An offender's required number of hours, as increased under this section, must not be increased so as to exceed the required number of hours specified in the offender's community service order by more than 10 hours.
- (3) On the application of the offender, a Local Court may review such a direction and, following the review, may confirm or revoke the direction.

Subdivision 3 Miscellaneous

114 Extension of period of community service order

- (1) An application for an extension of the relevant maximum period for an offender's community service order may be made to a Local Court by the offender, or by the offender's assigned officer, on the grounds that it would (having regard to circumstances that have arisen since the relevant community service order was made) be in the interests of justice to extend that period.
- (2) Such an application may be made even if the relevant maximum period for the community service order has expired.
- (3) If satisfied that the applicant has established the grounds on which the application is made, the Local Court:
 - (a) may extend the relevant maximum period for the offender's community service order, and
 - (b) in that event, must cause notice of the extension to be sent to the offender's assigned officer.

(a) by the offender's assigned officer, on the grounds that the offender has failed, without reasonable excuse, to comply with the offender's obligations under the order, or

(b) by the offender, or by the offender's assigned officer, on the grounds that it would (having regard to circumstances that have arisen since the relevant community service order was made) be in the interests of justice to revoke the order.

(2A) The application cannot be made later than one month after the expiry of the relevant maximum period for the order.

(2B) For the purpose only of determining an application under this section, a community service order is taken to be in force even if the relevant maximum period has expired.

(3) If satisfied that the applicant has established the grounds on which the application is made, the court may revoke the offender's community service order and (if it considers it appropriate to do so) deal with the offender in any manner in which it could have dealt with the offender had the order not been made.

(4) An offender on whom a penalty is imposed as a consequence of the revocation of a community service order under this section has the same rights of appeal as if the penalty had been imposed when the offender was convicted of the offence to which the penalty relates.

(5) A court that revokes an offender's community service order under this section must cause notice of the revocation to be sent to the offender's assigned officer.

(6) For the purposes of this section:

(a) failure by an offender to perform the required number of hours of community service work under a community service order within the relevant maximum period for the order is taken to constitute failure by the offender to comply with the offender's obligations under the order, and

(b) failure by an offender to comply with the offender's obligations under one community service order (the primary failure) is taken to constitute failure by the offender to comply with the offender's obligations under every other community service order that is in force when the primary failure occurs.

(1) The court to which an offender's assigned officer makes an application:

(a) for the extension of the period for which the offender's community service order is to remain in force, or may call on the offender to appear before it.

(2) If the offender fails to appear, the court may:

(a) issue a warrant for the offender's arrest, or

(b) authorise an authorised officer to issue a warrant for the offender's arrest.

(3) If, however, at the time the assigned officer makes the application referred to in subsection (1), the court is satisfied that the location of the offender is unknown, the court may immediately:

(a) issue a warrant for the offender's arrest, or

(b) authorise an authorised officer to issue a warrant for the offender's arrest.

(4) In this section:

authorised officer has the same meaning as it has in the Criminal Procedure Act 1986.

- (2) The offender to whom the periodic detention order relates may make submissions to the Parole Authority in relation to the matters under inquiry.

163 Revocation of periodic detention order

- (1) The Parole Authority may make an order (a revocation order) revoking a periodic detention order:

 - (c) if the offender has applied for the order to be revoked,
- and may do so either on its own initiative or on the recommendation of the Commissioner.
- (1A) The Parole Authority may revoke an offender's periodic detention order on the application of the Commissioner if it is satisfied that health reasons or compassionate grounds exist that justify its revocation.
- (1B) If a periodic detention order is revoked under subsection (1A), the Parole Authority may, on the application of the Commissioner, make such of the orders sought by the Commissioner in relation to the offender as it considers appropriate.
- (1C) The Parole Authority must revoke a periodic detention order that it has reinstated under section 168A (1A) if, at any time during the remainder of the term of the sentence to which the order relates (including any period during which the offender is released on parole under a parole order), the offender is sentenced to a term of imprisonment by way of full-time detention that is to be served consecutively (or partly consecutively) with the sentence to which the order relates.
- (2) The Parole Authority must revoke an offender's periodic detention order on the application of the Commissioner if the Parole Authority is satisfied that:
- (a) the offender:
 - (i) has failed to report for 3 or more detention periods, whether during the same sentence of imprisonment or during different sentences of imprisonment being served consecutively (or partly consecutively) and whether any of the failures to report occurred before or after a reinstatement of the offender's periodic detention order under section 164A or 168A, and
 - (ii) has not had a periodic detention order reinstated previously under section 164A or 168A following revocation for failure to report for 3 or more detention periods, whether under this subsection or any other law, or
 - (b) the offender:

- (i) has failed to report for at least 1 detention period, and
- (ii) has had a periodic detention order reinstated previously under section 164A or section 168A following revocation for failure to report for 3 or more detention periods, whether under this subsection or any other law, and the Parole Authority is satisfied that the failures to report occurred otherwise than on leave of absence and are not the subject of an exemption under section 90.

(2A) An application under subsection (2) must be made:

(a) if the Commissioner is satisfied that:

- (i) an offender has failed to report for 3 or more consecutive detention periods, and
- (ii) the offender has failed to apply for, or been refused, leave of absence with respect to each of the detention periods referred to in subparagraph (i), and
- (iii) the offender's periodic detention order has not previously been reinstated under section 164A or 168A following revocation for failure to report for 3 or more detention periods, whether under subsection (2) or any other law, or

(b) if the Commissioner is satisfied that:

- (i) an offender has failed to report for at least 1 detention period, and
- (ii) the offender has failed to apply for, or been refused, leave of absence with respect to the detention period referred to in subparagraph (i), and
- (iii) the offender's periodic detention order has previously been reinstated under section 164A or 168A following revocation for failure to report for 3 or more detention periods, whether under subsection (2) or any other law.

(2B) For the purposes of subsection (2A) (a), one detention period is taken to be consecutive with another:

- (a) even if they each relate to different sentences of imprisonment being served by way of periodic detention, and
- (b) even if there is a period between them that is not a detention period because it includes the whole or any part of Christmas Day, Good Friday or Easter Sunday.

(2C) For the purposes of this section:

- (a) an offender is taken to have failed to report for a detention period if, by the time that period ends, the offender has failed to report to the periodic detention centre or other place to which he or she is currently required to report, and
- (b) an offender is taken to have failed to apply for leave of absence for a detention period if, by the time the offender is due to report for that period, the offender has neither made an application for leave of absence nor, in the case of an inability to report, caused a telephone call to be made as referred to in section 87 (4) (a).

Note—

Paragraph (a) makes it clear that an offender is not taken to have failed to report if the offender merely reports late (reporting late is dealt with in section 88, in relation to the granting of leave of absence, and section 89, in relation to extension of the term of the offender's sentence). Paragraph (b) makes it clear that an offender's failure to apply for leave of absence in relation to a failure to report for a detention period is ascertainable as soon as the detention period begins.

- (3) The Parole Authority may refuse to revoke an offender's periodic detention order on the grounds referred to in subsection (2) if it is satisfied:
- (a) that the offender:
 - (i) applied for, and ought to have been granted, leave of absence, or
 - (ii) applied for, and ought to have been granted, an exemption under section 90, with respect to one or more detention periods, and
 - (b) that the total number of detention periods for which the offender has failed to report would, had the leave or exemption been granted, be less than 3,
- and, in that event, leave of absence is taken to have been granted with respect to the detention periods referred to in paragraph (a).
- (3A) A decision as to whether or not an offender's periodic detention order is to be revoked on the grounds referred to in subsection (2) is to be made at the meeting of the Parole Authority at which the matter is first raised unless the Parole Authority determines that deferral is necessary to allow it to obtain further information.
- (3B) A matter may not be deferred under subsection (3A) for more than 2 months from the date of the meeting at which the matter was first raised.
- (4) A revocation order may be made:
- (a) whether or not the offender has been called on to appear before the Parole Authority, and
 - (b) whether or not the Parole Authority has held an inquiry.
- (5) A revocation order must state the reason for which it is made.

164 Effect of revocation order

- (1) A revocation order takes effect, or is taken to have taken effect, on the date on which it is made or on such earlier date as the Parole Authority thinks fit.

- (2) The earliest date on which the revocation order may take effect is the date of the first occasion on which it appears to the Parole Authority that the offender failed to comply with the offender's obligations under the periodic detention order.
- (3) If an offender is not taken into custody until after the day on which the revocation order takes effect:
 - (a) the term of the offender's sentence, and
 - (b) if the order takes effect during a non-parole period of the sentence, the non-parole period of the sentence,are, by this subsection, extended by the number of days the person was at large after the order took effect.

164A Parole Authority may reinstate revoked periodic detention order

- (1) If:
 - (a) an offender's periodic detention order has been revoked under this Division or under section 179, and
 - (b) the offender has, since that revocation, served at least 3 months of the offender's sentence by way of full-time detention,the Parole Authority may, on the application of the offender and subject to Part 5 of the Crimes (Sentencing Procedure) Act 1999, make an order reinstating the offender's revoked periodic detention order in respect of the remaining balance of the offender's sentence.
- (2) Before making an order referred to in subsection (1), the Parole Authority must refer the offender to the Probation and Parole Service for assessment as to the suitability of the offender for periodic detention.
- (3) Part 5 of the Crimes (Sentencing Procedure) Act 1999 applies to and in respect of the Parole Authority and the offender in relation to the making of a periodic detention order under this section in the same way as it applies to and in respect of a court and an offender in relation to the making of a periodic detention order under that Act.
