Part 2 Approval to acquire and use assumed identity

4 Chief executive officer may grant approval for assumed identity

- (1) The chief executive officer of an authorised agency may grant approval (an assumed identity approval) for the acquisition and use of an assumed identity by an officer of the agency. The approval remains in force until it is revoked.
- (2) The chief executive officer may vary or revoke an assumed identity approval at any time. Notice of the variation or revocation must be given to the officer to whom the approval applies.
- (3) An assumed identity approval can relate to more than one assumed identity.

5 What an approval authorises

- (1) An assumed identity approval authorises the officer to whom it applies to acquire an assumed identity specified in the approval and to use that identity when carrying out the officer's official duties. The officer can use an assumed identity under the authority of an assumed identity approval without having actually acquired the identity.
- (2) For the purposes of this Act:
 - (a) an officer acquires an assumed identity by obtaining evidence of identity under the assumed identity, including by obtaining the making of an entry in any register or other record of information, and
 - (b) an officer uses an assumed identity by representing it to be the officer's true identity.
- (3) An assumed identity approval also authorises:
 - (a) the making (by the officer to whom the approval applies or by the person who gave the approval) of any false or misleading representation about the officer, for the purposes of or in connection with the acquisition or use of the assumed identity by the officer, and
 - (b) the use by the officer of the assumed identity to obtain evidence of identity.
- (4) Evidence of identity of a kind that ordinarily authorises a person to exercise a function (such as a driver licence) does not, when acquired under the authority of an assumed identity approval, authorise the officer concerned to exercise any function that the officer could not otherwise lawfully exercise.

- (5) However, the fact that an officer is not competent or qualified or otherwise authorised to exercise a particular function (such as the driving of a vehicle) does not prevent the acquisition by the officer under the authority of an assumed identity approval of evidence of identity of a kind that ordinarily authorises a person to exercise that function.

6 Role of government and private bodies

- (1) When an assumed identity approval has been granted, the chief executive officer of the authorised agency concerned may request a government body or private body to do any of the following:
- (a) prepare and provide in respect of the officer to whom the approval applies specified evidence of identity under the assumed identity (being evidence of identity of a kind that is ordinarily provided by the government body or private body),
 - (b) make an entry in respect of the officer to whom the approval applies under the assumed identity in any register or other record of information kept by the government body or private body (such as that relevant to the issue of a driver licence, credit card or identity card or to the recording of driving or credit history).
- (2) A government body is authorised and required to comply with a request made to it under this section. A private body is authorised (but not required) to comply with a request made to it under this section.
- (3) For the purpose of complying with a request under this section, the officer in charge of a government body or private body, and any other officer or employee of the government body or private body acting in accordance with the directions of the officer in charge, is authorised to provide evidence of identity and make an entry in a register or other record of information in accordance with the request.
- (4) A certificate given or apparently given by the chief executive officer of an authorised agency certifying that a request made to a government body or private body is authorised by this section may be relied on by the officer in charge and any other officer or employee of the government body or private body as evidence of the matters certified.
- (5) On being directed by the chief executive officer of an authorised agency to cancel an assumed identity, the officer in charge of a government body or private body, and any other officer or employee of the government body or private body acting in accordance with the directions of the officer in charge, is authorised and required to cancel any evidence of identity or entry in a register or other record of information provided or made in respect of the assumed identity.
- (6) This section does not authorise the making or cancellation of an entry in a register of births or marriages except in accordance with an order under section 7.

7 Special provisions for entries in register of births and marriages

- (1) The chief executive officer of an authorised agency may apply to an eligible Judge (as defined in section 8) for an order authorising the Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages to make in any register of births or marriages kept by the Registrar an entry in respect of an officer to whom an assumed identity approval has been granted under an assumed identity to which the approval applies.
- (2) An eligible Judge may make an order under this section if satisfied that the making of the entry to which the application relates is justified having regard to the nature of the duties being undertaken or to be undertaken by the officer in connection with the assumed identity approval.
- (3) A chief executive officer must provide such evidence as an eligible Judge may require to satisfy himself or herself as to the matters provided by this section.
- (4) On the making of an order under this section, the Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages and any officer of the Registry acting under the direction of the Registrar is authorised and required to make any entries in a register of births or marriages that are necessary to give effect to the order.
- (5) The chief executive officer of the authorised agency must maintain records showing appropriate identifying particulars of the original birth entry or the original marriage entry of an officer in respect of whom an order is made under this section.
- (6) An entry in a register of births or marriages made under this section is to be cancelled by the Registrar of Births, Deaths and Marriages or by any officer of the Registry acting under the direction of the Registrar if an eligible Judge, on being satisfied that the assumed identity approval is no longer in force, makes an order on the application of the chief executive officer directing that the entry be cancelled.

8 Eligible Judges

- (1) In this section and section 7:

eligible Judge means a Judge in relation to whom a consent under subsection (2) and a nomination under subsection (3) are in force.

Judge means a person who is a Judge of the Supreme Court.

- (2) A Judge may, by instrument in writing, consent to being nominated by the Attorney General under subsection (3).
- (3) The Attorney General may, by instrument in writing, nominate Judges in relation to whom consents are in force under subsection (2) to be eligible Judges for the purposes of section 7.

- (4) An eligible Judge has, in relation to the exercise of a function conferred on an eligible Judge by section 7, the same protection and immunity as a Judge of the Supreme Court has in relation to proceedings in the Supreme Court.
- (5) A Judge who has given consent under this section may, by instrument in writing, revoke the consent.
- (6) The Attorney General may, by instrument in writing, amend or revoke a nomination under this section.

9 Protection from liability

- (1) Anything done by an officer of an authorised agency or the officer in charge or other officer or employee of a government body or private body, in good faith in accordance with the authority conferred by this Act, is not unlawful and does not constitute an offence under any Act or other law, or corrupt conduct within the meaning of the Independent Commission Against Corruption Act 1988.
- (2) Conduct of a person as chief executive officer of an authorised agency, an officer of such an agency, an officer in charge of any government body or private body, or an officer or employee of a government body or private body acting under the direction of the officer in charge, does not, if the conduct was in good faith and for the purpose of executing this Act, subject him or her personally to any action, claim, liability or demand.
- (3) This section does not limit or otherwise affect the liability of an authorised agency for any liability incurred by an officer of the agency in the course of acquiring or using an assumed identity.
