- (3) A registered worker who in any financial year performs voluntary work in the nature of building and construction work in New South Wales as a result of an emergency declared or otherwise recognised under the State Emergency and Rescue Management Act 1989 or under any similar Act of the State or of the Commonwealth, is entitled to be credited in the register of workers with a number of days' service determined by the Corporation to be equivalent to the number of full days spent performing that voluntary work during that year.
- (4) A registered worker who in any financial year performs light duty work assigned to the worker in accordance with the Workers Compensation Act 1987, while partially incapacitated for work as a result of an injury (as defined in that Act) sustained while performing building and construction work is entitled to be credited in the register of workers with a number of days' service determined by the Corporation to be equivalent to the number of full days spent performing that light duty work during that year.
- (5) Subsection (4) does not apply in respect of light duty work performed during a financial year that commenced more than 3 years after the date of the relevant injury.
- (6) A registered worker who in any financial year performed unpaid work in the nature of building and construction work on a residential building (being a building constructed or acquired by the worker solely for the purpose of subsequent sale by the worker) is entitled to be credited in the register of workers with a number of days' service determined by the Corporation to be equivalent to the number of full days spent performing that unpaid work while unemployed during that year.
- (7) Without limiting the power of the Corporation to determine a number of days' service to be equivalent, for the purposes of an entitlement under this section, to a number of full days in a period during which such an entitlement arises, the Corporation may, in the case of any such period that is greater than one week, determine that two-thirds of the number of days in the period is the proper service equivalent.

(8) Entitlements under this section must be claimed by the registered worker concerned, who must make out the claim to the satisfaction of the Corporation.

(9) This section has effect subject to section 24.

24 Limitations on and adjustments of service credits

(1) A person shall not be credited in the register of workers with any day's service in the building and construction industry unless that day was on or after the date, shown in that register, on which the person became a registered worker.

(2) A registered worker shall not be credited in the register of workers with more than 220 days' service in the building and construction industry in respect of any financial year.

(2A) Where:

(a) in respect of any financial year a registered worker would, but for this subsection, be entitled to be credited in the register of workers kept under this Act with a period of service and to be credited in a record of building and construction workers' service kept under a corresponding law with another period of service, and

(b) those periods of service together amount to more than 220 days, the period of service with which the worker may be credited in the register of workers kept under this Act shall be adjusted as prescribed.

(2B) The adjustment referred to in subsection (2A) shall be made:

(a) on the making of an application under this Act or under a corresponding law for a long service payment to be made or a long service benefit to be paid in respect of a period of service that includes either or both of the periods of service referred to in that subsection, or

(b) at such other times as the Corporation may decide.

(3) Where:

(a) a long service payment is made to a person as a result of an application made under section 28 (1) by virtue of the person's having fulfilled the requirements specified in section 28 (1) (c) or (d), or

(b) a long service benefit is paid to a person as a result of an application made under a provision of a corresponding law that corresponds to section 28 (1) by virtue of the person's having fulfilled requirements similar to those so specified, the person shall not be credited in the register of workers with any day's service in respect of building and construction work performed by that person during that period of 12 months immediately following the date of that application.

- (4) Section 32, however, applies to each day's service referred to in subsection (3) as though it had been credited to the worker.
- (6) A service credit that, calculated in accordance with section 22 or 23, results in a number of days consisting of a whole number plus a fraction is to be adjusted to the next succeeding whole number.

25 Notice to registered workers of service credits

- (1) The Corporation shall, as soon as practicable after 31 July in each year, serve on each person who on 30 June in that year was a registered worker a notice:
 - (a) specifying the number of days' service in the building and construction industry, as shown in the register of workers, with which that registered worker has, in accordance with this Division, been credited in respect of the year ended on that 30 June, and

- (3) The Corporation shall determine an objection lodged pursuant to subsection (2) and the determination of the Corporation shall, subject to any determination made by the Committee in an appeal under Part 6, be final and conclusive.
- (4) Where no objection is lodged pursuant to subsection (2) in relation to a notice or any objection so lodged is determined under subsection (3), the Corporation shall not consider any other objection relating to the accuracy of the notice unless:
 - (a) the objection is lodged with the Corporation within 2 years after the date of the work, activity or circumstance to which the objection relates, or
 - (b) the Corporation considers that special circumstances warrant its doing so.
- (5) Nothing in this section requires the Corporation to serve notice on a person who the Corporation has reason to believe is no longer to be found at the address last entered in the register of workers as the person's place of residence or business and for whom no other address for service (including any destination for electronic transmission) is known to the Corporation.

- (6) Without limiting the generality of subsection (5), notice is not required to be served on a person for whom no more current address is known if the last 2 notices sent by the Corporation by post to the address last entered in the register of workers as the person's place of residence or business have been returned to the sender.
- (7) Despite subsection (1), the Corporation is not required to serve a notice on a person:
 - (a) whose registration has been cancelled (whether before or after the 30 June to which the notice relates), or
 - (b) whose registration, in the opinion of the Corporation, is likely to be cancelled before the following 30 June.
- (8) However, if the Corporation has, by reason of subsection (7) (b), not served a notice on a person and by that following 30 June the person's registration has not been cancelled, the Corporation must, as soon as possible, ensure that the relevant notice is served on the person.

- (6) A registered worker, or the personal representative of a registered worker, who is paid any long service payment under this Act or the former Act is not, in respect of any period by reference to which that payment was calculated, entitled to any benefits under an approved long service leave scheme.
