Changes to calculation of dutiable value

- (2) Sections 26 and 26A, as in force immediately before their repeal by the Budget Measures Act, continue to apply to dutiable transactions that occurred before 1 July 2013.
- (3) In this clause:

Budget Measures Act means the State Revenue and Other Legislation Amendment (Budget Measures) Act 2013.

Explanatory note

The amendments defer the abolition of certain duties (which were due to be abolished on 1 July 2013) until a date to be appointed by proclamation of the Governor. The same or different abolition dates may be appointed in relation to the duties concerned.

The duties affected are:

- (a) duty on transfers of marketable securities and commercial fishery shares, and
- (b) duty on transfers of business assets, and
- (c) duty on transfers of statutory licences or permissions and gaming machine entitlements, and
- (d) mortgage duty.

Items [4] and [18] provide for the abolition of the relevant duties on a date to be appointed by proclamation of the Governor.

Items [1], [3], [5]-[15], [19] and [22] are consequential amendments.

Items [16] and [17] provide for the abolition of duties on entitlements arising from capital reductions or rights alterations, and the duty on allotment of shares by direction, on the date appointed for the abolition of duty on transfers of marketable securities and commercial fishery shares.

Item [2] removes a redundant provision of the Duties Act 1997. It also ensures that the value of goods is included in the dutiable value of a transaction involving goods and other dutiable property, if the other dutiable property includes the goodwill of a business. The amendment is related to the fact that the abolition of duty on the transfer of business assets (such as the goodwill of a business) is to be deferred.

Item [21] is consequential on the fact that the abolition of mortgage duty is to be deferred. It provides for the application of the Duties Act 1997 to electronic mortgages executed in accordance with the Electronic Conveyancing National Law (NSW).

Item [20] updates a cross-reference.

Item [23] provides for savings and transitional matters.

- (5) The declaration of a base rate by a regulation made under this clause is, for the purposes of the Subordinate Legislation Act 1989, a matter of a savings or transitional nature.

Explanatory note

Items [1] and [3] provide for a base rate of $2 (instead of the existing rate of $1.37) to have effect as the prescribed rate under the Health Insurance Levies Act 1982. The prescribed rate is the rate used to calculate the monthly levy payable under that Act.

The proposed amendments also enable the base rate to be further adjusted by regulation if there is a delay in the commencement of the proposed amendments. Under item [4], a regulation declaring a new base rate can be made if the proposed amendments commence after 1 July 2013. Such a regulation cannot be made after the base rate is automatically adjusted under Schedule 2 to the Health Insurance Levies Act 1982 in 2014. Measures) Act 2013, was required to repay an amount paid by way of rebate is entitled to a refund of the amount repaid (if any) if, had the amendments been in effect at the time the requirement was made, repayment of the amount could not have been required.

- (2) Sections 25, 26, 58 (1) and 60 apply to the payment of a refund payable under this clause in the same way as they apply to the payment of a rebate.

Item [9] requires employers to be registered under the scheme on or before 30 September 2015 (and before any earlier scheme closure date for the area in which the person is employed that is appointed by the Minister).

Item [11] enables savings and transitional regulations to be made whenever the Act is amended.

Item [12] provides for specific transitional matters, including by providing for the waiver of the maximum rebate payable for certain employment that commences before 1 July 2013. Item [10] is a consequential amendment.
