- (2) The following electrical installations, or parts of electrical installations, may not be energised unless the relevant distributor first authorises it:
 - (a) any new electrical installation (other than a free-standing electrical installation) that has not previously been energised,
 - (b) any alteration of, or addition to, an electrical installation (other than a free-standing electrical installation) that will require a change to the network connection or metering arrangements.

- (3) Electrical installation work is required to be carried out in accordance with the Australian/New Zealand Wiring Rules.

Note—

Persons carrying out electrical installation work on electrical installations connected, or intended for connection, to a distribution system within the meaning of the Electricity Supply Act 1995 should also have regard to the Service and Installation Rules of New South Wales published by the Resources and Energy Division of the Department of Trade and Investment, Regional Infrastructure and Services from time to time.

- (4) An electrical installation, or part of an electrical installation, must not be energised unless its safe operation and compliance with the Australian/New Zealand Wiring Rules have been established by a safety and compliance test.

- (1) Notices relating to network connected electrical installations As soon as is reasonably practicable (but in any event no later than 7 days) after the completion of any safety and compliance test on an electrical installation, the results of the test are to be notified by the person who conducted the test (the tester) as follows:
- (a) to the person for whom the work is carried out,
 - (b) in relation to an electrical installation that is connected, or is intended to be connected, to the distribution system of a distributor—to the distributor, but only if the electrical installation work concerned involves:
