The Interpretation Act 1987 contains definitions and other provisions that affect the interpretation and application of this Act.

- (2) Notes included in this Act do not form part of this Act.

4 Aboriginal objects excluded from operation of Act

- (1) This Act does not apply to an Aboriginal object and an Aboriginal object is not a record for the purposes of this Act.

- (2) In this section, Aboriginal object has the same meaning as in the National Parks and Wildlife Act 1974.

5 Application of Act to State collecting institutions

- (1) This Act does not apply to a State record that is a private record in the collection of a State collecting institution.
- (2) A State record that is a private record in the collection of a State collecting institution ceases to be a State record if the institution ceases to exist.
- (3) Subject to subsections (4) and (5), Parts 2, 4 and 6 do not apply to a State record taken into the collection of a State collecting institution, other than a prescribed State collecting institution, before 1 January 1999.
- (4) The Authority may enter into an agreement with a State collecting institution that provides that 1 or more provisions of Part 2 that relate to functions conferred on the Authority apply, with or without modification, to records taken into the institution's collection before 1 January 1999.
- (5) Museums of History NSW may enter into an agreement with a State collecting institution that provides that 1 or more provisions of Part 2, 4 or 6 that relate to functions conferred on Museums of History NSW apply, with or without modification, to records taken into the institution's collection before 1 January 1999.
- (6) If a provision of this Act would otherwise require Museums of History NSW to enter into an agreement with, or obtain the consent of, Museums of History NSW, the agreement is taken to have been entered into, or the consent obtained, without further steps needing to be taken.
- (7) In this section—

private record means a record that is only a State record because it was taken into the collection of a State collecting institution in the circumstances set out in section 3(1), definition of State record.

6 Meaning of “control” of a record

- (1) For the purposes of this Act, a person is taken to have control of a record if the person has possession or custody of the record or has the record in the possession or custody of some other person.
- (2) For the purposes of this Act, an entitlement to control of a record is an entitlement to possession and custody of the record (including by having it in the possession or custody of some other person).

Note—

For example, a public office is taken to have control of records that are held by the public office in storage with a commercial storage provider.

7 Meaning of public office “responsible” for a record

- (1) The public office responsible for a State record for the purposes of this Act is the public office that is entitled to control of the record or (in the case of a record that Museums of History NSW is entitled to control of under this Act) the public office that would be entitled to control of the record if Museums of History NSW were not entitled to control of it.
- (2) In the absence of evidence to the contrary, the public office in which a record was made or received as a State record is the public office that is entitled to control of the record.
- (3) If that public office has ceased to exist, the public office entitled to control of the record is—
 - (a) the public office on which the functions of the defunct office have devolved, or
 - (b) if the defunct office’s functions have devolved on more than one public office—the public office on which have devolved the functions to which the record most closely relates.
- (3A) Subsection (3) does not apply in relation to a political office holder within the meaning of the Members of Parliament Staff Act 2013 to the extent that provision is otherwise made under that Act for the transfer of records relating to the political office holder to another public office.
- (4) If the defunct office’s functions have not devolved on another public office, the public office entitled to control of the record is such public office as the Minister may designate after consulting with the person in charge of the public office proposed to be designated.
- (4A) However, if the defunct office whose functions have not devolved on another public office is a Royal Commission or Special Commission of Inquiry, the public office entitled to control of the record is the Department of Premier and Cabinet.
- (5) If there is a dispute or uncertainty as to which public office is entitled to control of a record, the Minister can resolve the dispute or uncertainty by designating a particular public office as the public office entitled to control of the record. The public office so designated is conclusively presumed to be the public office entitled to control of the record.

8 State records transferred to private successor of public office

A person who is not a public office but who has State records under the person’s control as a result of the transfer to the person of the functions or undertaking of the public office previously responsible for the records is for the purposes of this Act taken to be a public office in respect of those records.

Part 2 Records management responsibilities of public offices

9 Application of Part to Governor, Parliament and courts

- (1) This Part does not apply to the following persons, or to the State records for which they are responsible, except as may be provided by agreement between the person and the Authority—
 - (a) the Governor acting in the Governor's vice-regal capacity,
 - (b) the Houses of Parliament,
 - (c) a court or tribunal, in respect of the court's or tribunal's judicial functions.
- (2) The Authority may enter into agreements for the purposes of this section providing for the application (with or without specified modifications) of any of the provisions of this Part to those persons and their records.

Note—

Section 5 should be referred to to understand how this Part applies to State collecting institutions.

10 Chief executives to ensure compliance with Act

The chief executive of each public office has a duty to ensure that the public office complies with the requirements of this Act and the regulations and that the requirements of this Act and the regulations with respect to State records that the public office is responsible for are complied with.

11 Obligation to protect records

- (1) Each public office must ensure the safe custody and proper preservation of the State records that it has control of.
- (2) A public office must ensure that arrangements under which a State record that it has control of but that is in the possession or custody of some other person include arrangements for the safe keeping, proper preservation and due return of the record.
- (3) A public office must take all reasonable steps to recover a State record for which the public office is responsible and that the public office does not have control of, unless the record is under the control of the Authority or of some other person with lawful authority.

12 Records management obligations

- (1) Each public office must make and keep full and accurate records of the activities of the office.

- (2) Each public office must establish and maintain a records management program for the public office in conformity with standards and codes of best practice from time to time approved under section 13.
- (3) The Authority may permit such departures from the requirements of the standards and codes as it considers necessary or desirable to accommodate the particular needs of a public office or class of public offices.
- (4) Each public office must make arrangements with the Authority for the monitoring by the Authority of the public office's records management program and must report to the Authority, in accordance with arrangements made with the Authority, on the implementation of the public office's records management program.
- (5) The Authority may issue a notice to a public office requiring the public office to, as directed by the notice—
 - (a) conduct an assessment of its record-keeping processes and records management program, and
 - (b) provide the Authority with a report on the findings arising from the assessment.
- (6) If the Authority is not satisfied with a report, or the findings of a report, referred to in subsection (5), the Authority may include information about this in the Authority's annual report under the Annual Reports (Statutory Bodies) Act 1984.

13 Standards and codes of best practice for records management

- (1) The Authority may from time to time approve standards and codes of best practice for records management by public offices. Records management extends to include all aspects of the making, keeping and disposal of records.
- (2) The Authority is not to approve of a standard or code of best practice unless the Board has approved of the standard or code.
- (3) The Authority is to consult with public offices on any proposed standards or codes under this section. It is sufficient consultation if the Authority gives notice in the Gazette of the availability of any proposed standards and codes and invites submissions on them.
- (4) The Authority is to keep under review the standards and codes for the time being approved under this section.
- (5) The Authority is to notify its approval of a standard or code by notice published in the Gazette.

14 Obligation to maintain accessibility to equipment/technology dependent records

- (1) If a record is in such a form that information can only be produced or made available from it by means of the use of particular equipment or information technology (such as computer software), the public office responsible for the record must take such action as may be necessary to ensure that the information remains able to be produced or made available.

- (2) This section applies only while the public office has control of the record or has the record in its custody or possession under an agreement with Museums of History NSW.

Note—

A public office can comply with this section in a number of ways, such as by “migration” of existing records into new technology, creating records or copies of records using technology that outlasts technological change, or by retaining existing technology. Museums of History NSW can provide guidance on how to comply with this section.

15 Authority entitled to access to records

A public office must give the Authority and the Authority’s officers such access to State records that the public office has control of as may be reasonably necessary for the purpose of enabling the Authority to monitor compliance by the public office with the requirements of this Act and the regulations.

16 Chief executive in special cases

- (1) The Secretary of the Department of Premier and Cabinet is the chief executive of the following public offices for the purposes of this Act—
- (a) the Cabinet,
 - (b) the Executive Council,
 - (c) a Royal Commission or Special Commission of Inquiry.
- (2) The regulations may provide that the holder of a specified office is the chief executive of a specified public office for the purposes of this Act.

17 Disputes about operation of Act

- (1) If there is a dispute between a public office and the Authority or Museums of History NSW about the operation of this Act as it relates to a function conferred on the Authority or Museums of History NSW, either party may request a review of the matter by—
- (a) the Ministers responsible for each party, or
 - (b) if the same Minister is responsible for both parties—the Minister responsible for both parties.
- (2) The parties must make a reasonable effort to resolve the dispute before requesting a review.

- (3) A decision of the Authority to permit or not to permit, or to approve a practice or procedure involving, an act referred to in section 21(1) may not be reviewed.
- (4) If the dispute is not resolved by the responsible Minister or Ministers, it must be referred to—
 - (a) the Premier, or
 - (b) another Minister designated by the Premier in a particular case.
- (5) Both parties must comply with a direction given by the Premier or the designated Minister to resolve the dispute.

18 Special agreements with public offices exercising inter-government functions

- (1) This section applies to public offices that exercise functions (inter-government functions) jointly or in cooperation with a public body of the Commonwealth, another State or a Territory, under a law or an agreement or other arrangement between governments.
- (2) The Authority or Museums of History NSW may, as it relates to functions conferred on the Authority or Museums of History NSW, respectively, enter into an agreement with the public office that provides for the rights and obligations of the public office in relation to making, keeping, protecting, controlling or providing access to records relating to the exercise of inter-government functions.
- (3) The agreement may exclude or modify the application of 1 or more provisions of Part 2, 4 or 6 to specified records.
- (4) A term of the agreement prevails over a provision of this Act to the extent of an inconsistency.

19 Records storage facilities and other services

- (1) Museums of History NSW can provide services (including assistance, advice and training) in all areas of records management, including creation, scheduling, storage and disposal.
- (2) In particular, Museums of History NSW can establish and maintain (either alone or jointly with others) repositories and other facilities for the care, management, use and servicing of State archives and other State records.
- (3) The services provided by Museums of History NSW—
 - (a) can be provided on a commercial basis, and
 - (b) can be provided in respect of records of any kind (whether or not they are State records), and

- (c) can be provided to any person (whether or not a public office), and
 - (d) can be provided within and outside the State, including outside Australia.
- (4) Museums of History NSW can accredit repositories and other facilities provided by other persons (including any public office) for the purpose of their use for the care, management and servicing of State archives and other State records.

20 Reports by Authority about compliance

- (1) The Authority may report to the Minister responsible for a public office any failure by the public office to comply with the requirements of this Act or the regulations or any other matter of concern to the Authority with regard to the public office's obligations under this Act or the regulations.
- (2) The Authority can include in annual reporting information prepared for it under the Government Sector Finance Act 2018 a report of any incidences of failure by public offices to comply with the requirements of this Act or the regulations.

Part 3 Protection of State records

21 Protection measures

- (1) A person must not—
 - (a) abandon or dispose of a State record, or
 - (b) transfer or offer to transfer, or be a party to arrangements for the transfer of, the possession or ownership of a State record, or
 - (c) take or send a State record out of New South Wales, or
 - (d) damage or alter a State record, or
 - (e) neglect a State record in a way that causes or is likely to cause damage to the State record.

Maximum penalty—100 penalty units.

- (2) None of the following is a contravention of this section—
 - (a) anything done in accordance with normal administrative practice in a public office (as provided by section 22),
 - (b) anything that is authorised or required to be done by or under this Act, or by or under a provision of any other Act that is prescribed by the regulations as being an exception to this Part,
 - (c) anything done by or with the permission of the Authority or in accordance with any practice or procedure approved by the Authority either generally or in a particular case or class of cases (including any practice or procedure approved of under any standards and codes of best practice for records management formulated by the Authority),

- (d) anything done pursuant to an order or determination of a court or tribunal,
 - (e) the disposal, in accordance with a resolution of a House of Parliament, of a State record for which the House is the responsible public office,
 - (f) anything done for the purpose of placing a record under the control of a public office,
 - (g) the transfer or disposal, in accordance with the Members of Parliament Staff Act 2013, of a record of information created or received by a political office holder (within the meaning of that Act) or the staff of such an office holder.
- (3) The Authority must not do, or give permission or approval for or with respect to the doing of, anything referred to in subsection (1) except with the approval of the Board given either generally or in a particular case or class of cases.
- (4) Anything done by a person (the employee) at the direction of some other person given in the course of the employee's employment is taken for the purposes of this section not to have been done by the employee and instead to have been done by that other person.
- (5) It is a defence to a prosecution for an offence under this section for the defendant to establish that he or she did not know and had no reasonable cause to suspect that the record was a State record.
- (6) This section prevails over a provision of any other Act enacted before the commencement of this section.
- (7) An Act enacted after the commencement of this section is not to be interpreted as prevailing over or otherwise altering the effect or operation of this section except in so far as that Act provides expressly for that Act to have effect despite this section.

22 Normal administrative practice

- (1) Something is considered to be done in accordance with normal administrative practice in a public office if it is done in accordance with the normal practices and procedures for the exercise of functions in the public office.
- (2) However, something is not considered to be done in accordance with normal administrative practice if—
 - (a) it is done corruptly or fraudulently, or is done for the purpose of concealing evidence of wrongdoing, or is done for any other improper purpose, or

- (b) it is conduct or conduct of a kind declared by the regulations to be unacceptable for the purposes of this Part, or
 - (c) it is done in accordance with a practice or procedure declared by the regulations to be unacceptable for the purposes of this Part, or
 - (d) it is done in accordance with a practice or procedure that the Authority has notified the public office in writing is unacceptable for the purposes of this Part.
- (3) The regulations may prescribe guidelines on what constitutes normal administrative practice. The guidelines do not limit what constitutes normal administrative practice and do not affect the operation of subsection (2).

23 Permission for sale of privately owned records cannot be refused unless Authority has offered to buy

The Authority cannot refuse permission for the sale of a State record that is in private ownership unless the Authority has offered to buy the record at market value and the offer has been refused. The market value of a State record is the amount that would be paid for the record by a willing but not anxious buyer. A State record is taken to be in private ownership if it is not owned by the State or an agency of the State.

24 Consent of public office required before records can be disposed of

- (1) Museums of History NSW must not dispose, or permit the disposal, of a State record in the possession of Museums of History NSW, unless the public office responsible for the record has consented to its disposal.
- (2) This section does not apply to a record once it becomes a State archive.

25 Special provision for records concerning Aboriginal heritage

- (1) The Authority must not dispose of or give permission for the disposal of a State record that contains information with respect to the State's Aboriginal heritage unless the Authority has first consulted with the Chief Executive of the Office of Environment and Heritage on the need to preserve the record.
- (2) The Authority and the Chief Executive may enter into arrangements for excluding particular records or classes of records from the operation of this section.

Part 4 Museums of History NSW entitled to control of State records not currently in use

26 Application of Part to Governor, Parliament and courts

- (1) This Part does not apply to the following persons, or to the State records for which they are responsible, except as may be provided by agreement between the person and Museums of History NSW—

- (a) the Governor acting in the Governor's vice-regal capacity,
 - (b) the Houses of Parliament,
 - (c) a court or tribunal, in respect of the court's or tribunal's judicial functions.
- (2) Museums of History NSW may enter into agreements for the purposes of this section providing for the application (with or without specified modifications) of any of the provisions of this Part to those persons and their records.

Note—

Section 5 should be referred to to understand how this Part applies to State collecting institutions.

27 Museums of History NSW entitled to State records no longer in use

Once a State record is no longer in use for official purposes in the public office responsible for the record, the Museums of History NSW is entitled to control of the record and the public office ceases to be entitled to control of it.

28 Records more than 25 years old presumed not in use

- (1) A State record is to be regarded as no longer in use for official purposes in a public office if the record is more than 25 years old, unless the public office has made a determination (a still in use determination) that the record is still in use for official purposes in the public office. A record may be no longer in use even if it is less than 25 years old. This section is not intended to create a presumption that a record is in use just because it is less than 25 years old.
- (2) A still in use determination need not be specific to a particular record and can instead be made so as to relate to a series, group or class of records. A public office must consult with Museums of History NSW before making a still in use determination. A still in use determination is to be in writing and a copy of it is to be given to Museums of History NSW as soon as practicable after it is made.
- (3) A still in use determination remains in force for the period (up to 5 years) specified in the determination unless it is revoked sooner by the public office responsible for the records concerned. The determination can be revoked by giving notice of revocation in writing to Museums of History NSW and can be remade before it expires, or a new determination can be made. There is no limit on the number of times a still in use determination can be made or remade.
- (4) Museums of History NSW may in a particular case request a public office to have a still in use determination made by it reviewed and approved by the Minister responsible for the public office. The determination lapses and cannot be remade without the permission of Museums of History NSW if it is not approved by the Minister within 3 months after the request is made.

- (5) A still in use determination can be made before any record to which it applies is 25 years old.

29 Records required to be made available to Museums of History NSW

A public office that has control of a record that Museums of History NSW is entitled to control of under this Act is required to make the record available to Museums of History NSW (to enable Museums of History NSW to take control of the record). Museums of History NSW may issue guidelines to public offices from time to time as to how State records are to be made available to Museums of History NSW and public offices are to comply with those guidelines.

30 How Museums of History NSW takes control of a record

- (1) Museums of History NSW takes control of a State record by taking the record into its possession or custody or by entering into an agreement, understanding or other arrangement whereby some other person (which can include the public office that is responsible for the record) is to have possession or custody of the record.
- (2) Any such agreement, understanding or other arrangement must include provision for facilitating the giving of access to records in accordance with this Act.

Note—

An agreement under this section with a public office could provide for the payment by Museums of History NSW of the reasonable costs to be incurred by the public office in complying with section 14 (Obligation to maintain accessibility to equipment/technology dependent records) in respect of a record to which the agreement applies.

31 Museums of History NSW not required to take control of records

- (1) Museums of History NSW is not required to take control of a State record just because it is entitled to control of the record.
- (2) The fact that Museums of History NSW does not take control of a State record when it becomes entitled to do so does not prevent Museums of History NSW from subsequently taking control of the record in exercise of its entitlement to do so.

32 Museums of History NSW can be required to take control of records in some cases

- (1) If Museums of History NSW is entitled to control of a State record and the record is more than 25 years old, the public office that has control of the record can request Museums of History NSW to take control of the record.
- (2) Museums of History NSW must comply with the request within a reasonable time after it is made unless—
 - (a) Museums of History NSW and the public office enter into an agreement under which the public office is to keep control of the record, or

- (b) Museums of History NSW undertakes to pay the reasonable costs to be incurred by the public office in keeping control of the record and of fulfilling its obligations under section 14 (Obligation to maintain accessibility to equipment/technology dependent records) with respect to the record, or
 - (c) the public office is, in respect of the record, in breach of guidelines issued under section 29 as to how State records are to be made available to Museums of History NSW, or
 - (d) Museums of History NSW gives the public office permission to dispose of the record.
- (3) A request under this section can be made so as to relate to a series, group or class of records instead of being made in relation to an individual record.

33 Entitlement to control does not affect other interests in State records

The entitlement that Museums of History NSW has to control a State record under this Part does not extinguish, limit or otherwise affect any right or interest of any other person in the State record.

Note—

The entitlement that Museums of History NSW has to control a State record under this Part does not operate to confiscate the record and vest ownership of it in Museums of History NSW or the State. It gives Museums of History NSW control over records that would otherwise be under the control of public offices. If a private person owns a State record that is under the control of a public office, this Part does not prevent the person asserting that ownership (even after Museums of History NSW has taken control of the record).

34 Secrecy and other duties do not prevent compliance with this Part

- (1) No duty of confidence, secrecy or non-disclosure (whether or not the duty arises under an Act) operates to prevent the giving of control of a State record to Museums of History NSW in compliance with this Part.
- (2) This section overrides a provision of any other Act that is inconsistent with it, except a provision that states specifically that it applies despite this section.

35 Public office entitled to return of records if needed

- (1) If a record that is a State archive is required for use for official purposes in the public office responsible for the record, the public office is entitled to temporary custody of it while it is required for use.
- (2) The public office is not entitled to custody of the original record (unless Museums of History NSW is satisfied that custody of the original is needed) and the giving of custody of a copy of the record is sufficient to satisfy this section.
- (3) If custody of the original is needed it can be given subject to conditions designed to ensure the safe keeping and proper preservation of the original.

- (4) Museums of History NSW is entitled to charge a public office for the reasonable expenses that Museums of History NSW incurs in giving the public office temporary custody of a record under this section.

36 Arrangements for other persons to have possession/custody of State archives

When Museums of History NSW enters into an agreement, understanding or other arrangement with any person (including a public office) under which the person is to have possession or custody of a State archive, the agreement, understanding or other arrangement is to include provision that will ensure that arrangements are in place for—

- (a) enabling public access to the record to be provided in accordance with this Act, and
- (b) facilitating return of the record if it is required for use for official purposes in the public office responsible for the record, and
- (c) ensuring the safe keeping and proper preservation of the record.

36A Arrangements to copy, publish or give access to State archives

- (1) Museums of History NSW may enter into an arrangement (an access arrangement) with a person, including a person outside the State, under which Museums of History NSW gives the person access to State archives that are open to public access under this Act to enable the person to make, publish or give other persons access to, copies of the State archives.
- (2) The access arrangement may—
 - (a) allow the person to alter copies of the State archives, or
 - (b) provide for the way the person can make, publish or give other persons access to, copies of the State archives, including arrangements for publishing or giving access to copies outside the State, or
 - (c) allow the person to charge a fee for publishing or giving access to copies of the State archives.
- (3) The access arrangement may be a commercial arrangement under which the person is required to pay a fee to Museums of History NSW.
- (4) If the access arrangement allows the person to give other persons access to copies of the State archives, section 62 extends to the giving of access by the person under the arrangement in the same way the section applies to the giving of access to a record under this Act by an access provider.
- (5) This section does not—
 - (a) give Museums of History NSW power to override a right in the nature of copyright, or

- (b) give a party to an access arrangement power to do something that would be an infringement of copyright.

Part 5 Recovery of estrays and other State records

37 Meaning of “estrays”

A State record is an estray for the purposes of this Act if it is owned by the State or an agency of the State but is not under the control of the public office responsible for the record (except as a result of being under the control of Museums of History NSW or of some other person with lawful authority).

Note—

Examples of estrays are State records owned by the State that have been abandoned or that have been removed from or transferred out of the control of the responsible public office without lawful authority. A State record that has been transferred with lawful authority can become an estray if that authority is subsequently revoked and the record is not returned. Museums of History NSW can give permission under section 21 to the transfer of a State record.

38 Presumption that State records are owned by the State

- (1) In any proceedings for the recovery of possession of a State record by or on behalf of the State or an agency of the State it is to be presumed that the record is owned by the State or agency of the State. The presumption is rebuttable by evidence to the contrary.
- (2) The presumption does not apply to a record created before the commencement of this section unless it is established that the record was in the ownership of the State or an agency of the State on some occasion after that commencement.
- (3) The presumption is rebutted if it is established that the person who has possession of the record (the holder) obtained possession of the record as a result of the distribution of the estate of a deceased person, or as a purchaser in good faith and for value without notice of any defect in title of the person who transferred the record to the holder or that the person who transferred the record to the holder had no title to it. This subsection does not limit the ways in which the presumption can be rebutted.

Note—

The effect of this presumption is not to make the State the owner of a record when there is evidence that the State is not the owner. The presumption operates to put the onus of establishing ownership on the person who is disputing the State’s claim to the record, ie the State is regarded as the owner until someone establishes to the contrary. Rebuttal of the presumption does not of itself mean that the State is not the owner of the record. The State can still establish ownership of the record in the same way as any person would establish ownership of property. The fact that a person has obtained possession of the record as a purchaser in good faith and for value without notice that the State was the owner of the record, or obtained possession under a will or intestacy, does not of itself mean that the person is the owner of the record. Questions of ownership and entitlement to possession of a State record are to be determined as for any other item of personal property.

39 Power to inspect records believed to be estrays

- (1) Museums of History NSW may give a direction in writing to a person who has possession or custody of a record that Museums of History NSW believes to be an estray directing the person to produce the record for inspection by Museums of History NSW at any reasonable time and place determined by Museums of History NSW and specified in the direction.
- (2) A person who is given such a direction must comply with it.
Maximum penalty—50 penalty units.
- (3) Museums of History NSW can make and retain a copy of any record produced to Museums of History NSW under this section but the following restrictions apply to such a copy (and any further copy made from it) for 10 years after the record is produced to Museums of History NSW—
 - (a) Museums of History NSW must not publish or otherwise publicly release the copy,
 - (b) the copy is not open to public access under this Act.
- (4) The owner of a record can by agreement with Museums of History NSW waive (wholly or partly) the restrictions imposed by subsection (3).
- (5) This section does not authorise Museums of History NSW to infringe any copyright.

40 Directions for protection of estrays

- (1) Museums of History NSW may give any person who has possession or custody of a record that Museums of History NSW believes to be an estray a direction in writing that for a period specified in the direction (not exceeding 90 days) the person must not do any of the following things except with the written permission of Museums of History NSW—
 - (a) sell the record or offer it for sale,
 - (b) dispose of the record or part with possession of it,
 - (c) remove the record from New South Wales.
- (2) A person must not contravene a direction given to the person under this section.
Maximum penalty—50 penalty units.
- (3) Museums of History NSW can revoke a direction under this section at any time by notice in writing to the person to whom the direction applies.
- (4) If Museums of History NSW takes action in a court of competent jurisdiction on behalf of the State or any public office to recover possession of an estray while the estray is the subject of a direction under this section, the direction remains in force until the action is determined, unless the court otherwise orders or the direction is revoked by Museums of History NSW.

41 Directions and assistance to public offices for recovery of estrays

Museums of History NSW may give directions to a public office that Museums of History NSW considers is responsible for a record that is an estray to take such steps as Museums of History NSW considers necessary or desirable to effect recovery by the public office of possession of the record. A public office must comply with any reasonable directions of Museums of History NSW under this section. Museums of History NSW may assist a public office to recover possession of an estray.

42 Court action to recover estrays

- (1) Museums of History NSW can take action in a court of competent jurisdiction on behalf of the State or any public office to recover possession of an estray.
- (2) When Museums of History NSW has commenced proceedings to recover possession of an estray, Museums of History NSW may direct any person who has possession of the estray to give possession of the record to Museums of History NSW pending the determination of the proceedings. A person who is given such a direction must comply with it unless the court before which the proceedings are pending otherwise orders.

Maximum penalty—50 penalty units.

43 No limitation period on action to recover estrays

No limitation period operates to bar the rights of the State or a public office (or Museums of History NSW on behalf of the State or a public office) in relation to an action for the recovery of possession of a record that is an estray.

44 Arrangements for protecting estrays in private hands

Museums of History NSW may enter into an agreement or other arrangement with any person who has possession of a record that Museums of History NSW believes to be an estray to make such provision as Museums of History NSW considers appropriate for or with respect to the preservation, security and confidentiality of and public access to the record.

45 Power of Museums of History NSW to obtain State records of archival significance

- (1) Museums of History NSW can apply to a court of competent jurisdiction for an order for possession of a State record that Museums of History NSW considers to be of archival significance and that is in private hands. A State record is taken to be in private hands whenever it is not under the control of a public office. An application can be made whether or not the person who has possession of the record is the owner of the record.

- (2) The court is to grant the application if satisfied that the record is a State record, and otherwise is to refuse to grant the application.
- (3) When Museums of History NSW obtains possession of a record pursuant to an order under this section, ownership of the record vests in the State freed and discharged from all other estates and interests in the record and Museums of History NSW is entitled to control of the record.
- (4) Any person who suffers loss as a result of the extinguishment of any estate or interest in a record by this section is entitled to be paid compensation by Museums of History NSW for the value of that loss.
- (5) The amount of that compensation is to be determined by Museums of History NSW but if the person entitled to the compensation is dissatisfied with the Authority's determination the person can apply to a court of competent jurisdiction for a review of the Authority's determination. The court's decision on the review is to be given effect to by Museums of History NSW.
- (6) This section applies to a State record whether or not it is an estray. No limitation period operates to bar the rights of Museums of History NSW under this section.

46 Directions to protect State records of archival significance

- (1) Museums of History NSW may give a person who has possession or custody of a record a protection direction for the record if the record is or is proposed to be the subject of an application under section 45. The direction remains in force while the application is pending (unless revoked sooner) but a protection direction given before the application is made lapses if the application is not made within 30 days after the direction is given.
- (2) A protection direction for a record is a direction in writing that a person must not sell the record or offer it for sale, must not dispose of the record or part with possession of it and must not remove the record from New South Wales, except with the written permission of Museums of History NSW.
- (3) When an application under section 45 is pending in respect of a record, Museums of History NSW may give a person who has possession or custody of the record a direction in writing requiring the person to give custody of the record to Museums of History NSW pending the determination of the application.
- (4) A person given a direction under this section must not contravene it unless the court before which the relevant application is pending orders otherwise.

Maximum penalty—50 penalty units.
- (5) Museums of History NSW may revoke a direction under this section at any time by notice in writing.

47 Museums of History NSW can acquire State records

- (1) Museums of History NSW can acquire by purchase on behalf of the State any State record that Museums of History NSW considers to be of archival significance.
- (2) Museums of History NSW can acquire by gift or bequest any State record and can agree to carry out the conditions of any such gift or bequest. The rule of law against remoteness of vesting does not apply to or in respect of any condition of a gift or bequest to which Museums of History NSW has agreed.

48 Application of estray law in and of other jurisdictions

- (1) The recognised estray provisions of the laws of another Australian jurisdiction apply in this State to a record located in this State (other than a State record) in the same way as they apply in that other jurisdiction to a record located in that jurisdiction.
- (2) Recognised estray provisions applying under this section apply subject to such modifications as may be prescribed by the regulations under this Act.
- (3) This Part extends to a State record that is located outside the State. Museums of History NSW is authorised to exercise its functions under this Part in any Australian jurisdiction in respect of any State record that is located in that jurisdiction.
- (4) Museums of History NSW may, in accordance with a request of an interstate archives body, exercise on behalf of the body in New South Wales any function conferred on the body by or under recognised estray provisions in respect of a record located in New South Wales.
- (5) An interstate archives body may, in accordance with a request by Museums of History NSW, exercise on behalf of Museums of History NSW in that body's jurisdiction any function conferred on Museums of History NSW under this Part in respect of a State record located in that jurisdiction.
- (6) In this section—

interstate archives body means a body established under the law of another Australian jurisdiction and declared by the Minister by order published in the Gazette to be the interstate archives body for the purposes of this section.

recognised estray provisions means such of the provisions of the law of another Australian jurisdiction as may be declared for the time being by the Minister by order published in the Gazette to be recognised estray provisions for the purposes of this section.

Part 6 Public access to State records after 30 years

49 Application of Part to Governor, Parliament and courts

- (1) This Part does not apply to the following persons, or to the State records for which they are responsible, except as may be provided by agreement between the person and Museums of History NSW—
 - (a) the Governor acting in the Governor's vice-regal capacity,
 - (b) the Houses of Parliament,
 - (c) a court or tribunal, in respect of the court's or tribunal's judicial functions.
- (2) Museums of History NSW may enter into agreements for the purposes of this section providing for the application (with or without specified modifications) of any of the provisions of this Part to those persons and their records.

Note—

Section 5 should be referred to to understand how this Part applies to State collecting institutions.

50 Open access period for records

For the purposes of this Act, a State record is in the open access period if the record is at least 30 years old. A record is taken to be 30 years old when 30 years have elapsed since it came into existence or since the original record of which it is a copy came into existence.

Note—

The fact that a record is in the open access period does not automatically mean that it is open to public access under this Act. Generally the record must be the subject of an open to public access direction (given by the public office responsible for the record) before it is open to public access. There is a presumption that a State record in the open access period should be open to public access but the public office responsible for the record can close the record to public access by giving a closed to public access direction (a CPA direction).

51 Access direction must be given for records in the open access period

- (1) Each public office must ensure that the State records for which it is responsible that are in the open access period are the subject of an access direction. Only the public office responsible for a record can give an access direction for the record.
 - (1A) There is a presumption that State records in the open access period should be open to public access under this Act.
- (2) An access direction must be either—
 - (a) a direction that records are open to public access under this Act (referred to in this Act as an OPA direction), or
 - (b) a direction that records are closed to public access under this Act (referred to in this Act as a CPA direction).

- (3) A State record that is the subject of an OPA direction is open to public access under this Act. A State record that is the subject of a CPA direction is not open to public access under this Act. When a record is open to public access under this Act, any person is entitled to be given access to the record as provided by this Part.
- (4) This Part does not prevent the giving of access independently of this Act to a State record (whether or not the record is in the open access period).

Note—

A CPA direction operates solely for the purposes of this Act. Its effect is that the entitlements to access conferred by this Act do not apply to the record, and it has no other effect. In particular, a CPA direction does not affect any other entitlement to access that arises outside this Act and does not prevent the giving of access voluntarily.

52 Deciding whether to open or close records to public access

- (1A) When making an assessment as to whether records should be open or closed to public access under this Act, a public office must have regard to the presumption that State records in the open access period should be open to public access under this Act.
- (1) An assessment by a public office as to whether records should be open or closed to public access under this Act should be made on the basis of the known or likely contents of series, groups or classes of records. The assessment should not be made on the basis of the contents of individual records unless the public office considers that such an assessment is warranted.

Note—

Assessment of records on an individual (record-by-record) basis is generally considered to be unworkable because of the volume of records involved. Assessment by series, group or class offers a workable “risk-managed” assessment procedure.

It is intended that existing Cabinet documents are to continue to be examined to determine whether they contain sensitive personal or commercial-in-confidence information, and that Cabinet documents that may contain any sensitive personal or commercial-in-confidence information will be marked to be returned to The Cabinet Office for assessment under this section.

- (2) Within the constraints of an assessment by series, group or class, the assessment should be cautious.

Note—

The need for risk management is recognised, so the assessment should not be overly cautious.

- (3) The Attorney General is to issue guidelines to public offices with respect to the matters to be taken into account when considering whether records should be open or closed to public access. The Attorney General is to review the guidelines under this section from time to time.

- (4) Public offices must have regard to the guidelines under this section but the guidelines do not limit the grounds on which a public office can open or close records to public access under this Act.

Note—

The guidelines can only relate to the types of matters that indicate a need to open or close records to public access, not to the means of assessing record content. That is, the guidelines must not interfere with the general requirement that records be assessed by series, group or class.

53 Secrecy provisions do not apply after 30 years

- (1) A provision of an Act that prohibits the disclosure or divulging of information or matter does not apply to the disclosure or divulging of that information or matter by means of the giving of access under this Act to a State record that—
 - (a) is in the open access period, and
 - (b) is the subject of an OPA direction, and
 - (c) contains that information or matter.
- (2) This section does not apply to a provision of an Act if the Act provides specifically to the effect that the prohibition concerned applies despite this Act.
- (3) The regulations can exempt a specified provision of an Act from the operation of this section, either generally or in respect of specified records or a specified class of records.

54 Application to open records to public access

- (1) If a State record is in the open access period and is not the subject of an access direction, any person can apply to the public office responsible for the record for an OPA direction for the record. An application can relate to a particular record or to series, groups or classes of records.
- (2) The application is to be made in a form approved by Museums of History NSW. No fee is payable for the application.
- (3) A public office is to deal with an application expeditiously. If an application has not been dealt with within 14 days after it was made, the public office is taken to have given the OPA direction applied for.
- (4) An application is dealt with by giving an access direction for the records that are the subject of the application.

Note—

The same kind of access direction need not be given for all the records concerned (that is, an OPA direction can be given for some of them and a CPA direction given for the others). A public office can, in the course of dealing with an application under this section, decide to give an access direction that covers other records as well (not just the records that are the subject of the application).

- (5) A public office must notify its decision on an application under this section to the applicant in writing.

55 Procedures for giving and revoking access directions

- (1) An access direction is to be given to Museums of History NSW in writing in a form approved by Museums of History NSW.
- (2) An OPA direction remains in force until it is revoked.
- (3) A CPA direction remains in force for the period (up to 5 years) specified in the direction unless it is revoked or renewed sooner. There is no limit on the number of times a CPA direction can be given or renewed.

Note—

The fact that a CPA direction can only remain in force for 5 years (subject to renewal) does not prevent the giving of a CPA direction that operates by reference to a longer period. For example, a CPA direction could be given that was expressed to remain in force for 5 years and that required adoption records to be closed for 100 years. The direction would remain in force for 5 years and would operate during that time to prevent public access to adoption records aged less than 100 years. At the end of the 5 years, the direction could be renewed.

- (4) An access direction can be revoked by the public office responsible for the record concerned in one of the following ways (and not otherwise)—
 - (a) by giving an OPA direction (to revoke a CPA direction),
 - (b) by giving a CPA direction (to revoke an OPA direction),
 - (c) in compliance with a direction of the responsible Minister under section 55A (3) (b).
- (5) An access direction can be selectively revoked or renewed, that is, it can be revoked or renewed in respect of some of the records to which it applies (with the effect that the original access direction continues to apply to the other records concerned).
- (6) A public office that gives a CPA direction for a State record must give its reasons for giving the direction—
 - (a) to Museums of History NSW, if Museums of History NSW has requested that the public office give those reasons, and
 - (b) to any person who has had an application for an OPA direction for the record under section 54 refused by the giving of the CPA direction and who has requested that the public office give those reasons.

55A Review of access directions by responsible Minister

- (1) Museums of History NSW may request the public office responsible for a State record that is the subject of an access direction to have the direction reviewed by the Minister responsible for the public office (the responsible Minister).

- (2) Such a review is to be finalised within 3 months after the request is made by Museums of History NSW and may be carried out in consultation with Museums of History NSW.
- (3) The responsible Minister finalises the review by—
 - (a) confirming the access direction, or
 - (b) directing the public office to revoke the access direction and replace it with another access direction specified in the direction.

Note—

For example, the responsible Minister's direction could require that a CPA direction be replaced with an OPA direction, or with another CPA direction of a different duration.

- (4) A public office must comply with a direction of the responsible Minister within 14 days. An access direction given in compliance with such a direction cannot be revoked except with the permission of the responsible Minister or Museums of History NSW.

Note—

OPA directions remain in force until revoked. CPA directions remain in force for the period specified in the direction unless revoked or renewed sooner. The prohibition on revocation in subsection (4) does not prevent a CPA direction being renewed, or being given again after it has lapsed.

- (5) If the review is not finalised within 3 months after the review was requested, or the responsible public office does not comply with a direction of the responsible Minister within 14 days after it is given, the access direction under review is revoked (with the result that there is no access direction for the records concerned). An access direction of the same kind as the revoked access direction cannot be given again for the records concerned without the permission of Museums of History NSW.

Note—

The 2 kinds of access direction are an OPA direction and a CPA direction.

56 Access still available under Government Information \(Public Access\) Act 2009

The fact that a record is not open to public access under this Act does not affect any entitlement to obtain access to information contained in the record under the Government Information \(Public Access\) Act 2009.

Note—

If a record is not open to public access because it is not the subject of an access direction, an application under this Part for an OPA direction should be made before an application is made under the Government Information \(Public Access\) Act 2009.

57 Public office may authorise earlier public access

- (1) The public office responsible for a State record that is not in the open access period can permit public access to the record under this Act by authorising early public access to the record under this Act and notifying Museums of History NSW that it has authorised that access. The record is then open to public access under this Act while the authorisation remains in force and accordingly any person is entitled to be given access to the record as provided by this Part.
- (2) Such an authorisation may be revoked at any time by the public office for the time being responsible for the record. The authorisation is revoked by giving notice of revocation in writing to Museums of History NSW.
- (2A) In assessing whether to authorise early public access to State records under this Act, a public office is to apply the principles established by section 52 for an assessment under that section. The power conferred by subsection (1) is exercisable at the absolute discretion of the public office concerned and this subsection does not limit the exercise of that discretion.
- (3) This section applies to part of a record in the same way as it applies to the whole record, so that authorisation can be given for part of a record and that part of the record is then open to public access while the authorisation is in force (without conferring any entitlement to public access to the rest of the record).
- (4) This section does not authorise a public office to permit public access to a State record in breach of any duty or obligation (such as a duty of confidentiality) that the public office may have with respect to the record.
- (5) Once a record is in the open access period, an authorisation under this section in respect of it is taken to be an OPA direction in respect of the record (and can be revoked accordingly).
- (6) This section does not limit the power of a public office to permit access to a State record independently of this Act.

58 Arrangements for special access

- (1) The Premier may from time to time approve arrangements (special access arrangements) for allowing special access to State records that are not open to public access under this Act. Special access is access that is limited to a particular person or persons or classes of persons. The regulations can specify the circumstances in which and the conditions subject to which special access can be given under the special access arrangements.
- (2) The appropriate Minister or a person authorised by the appropriate Minister may, in accordance with the special access arrangements and the regulations, by written authorisation authorise special access to State records. The appropriate Minister is the Minister who is responsible for the public office that is responsible for the records concerned.

- (3) Such an authorisation can be given subject to conditions and entitles any person to whom the authorisation applies (on presentation of the authorisation to the access provider) to be given access to the records concerned in accordance with the terms and conditions of the authorisation and as provided by this Part.
- (4) A person must not contravene any conditions of an authorisation under which the person is given access to a State record.

Maximum penalty—50 penalty units.

- (5) This section does not authorise the giving of access to a State record that is not in the open access period in breach of any duty or obligation (such as a duty of confidentiality) that may apply to the record.

59 Withholding access to ensure proper care of records

- (1) Museums of History NSW can direct that a State archive be withheld from public access if of the opinion that it is necessary to do so for the purpose of ensuring the safe custody and proper preservation of the record. The record is not open to public access under this Act while the direction is in force.
- (2) (Repealed)
- (3) Museums of History NSW is to provide a copy of a record that is not open to public access under this section if the Museums of History NSW thinks it is practicable to do so without detriment to the proper preservation and safe custody of the record. The copy is then open to public access under this Act (unless it is not open to public access under another provision of this Part) and is available for access under and in accordance with the Government Information \(Public Access\) Act 2009.
- (4) Museums of History NSW is entitled to charge a fee determined by Museums of History NSW for providing a copy of a record under this section.
- (5) A person aggrieved by a direction of Museums of History NSW under this section may apply to the Minister for a review of the decision. The Minister's decision on the review is final and not subject to further review or appeal. Museums of History NSW is to give effect to the Minister's decision.

60 The giving of access

- (1) The person required to give access to a State record under this Act (the access provider) is—
 - (a) if the record is under the control of Museums of History NSW—Museums of History NSW, or

- (b) otherwise—the public office that has control of the record.
- (2) A person who is entitled to be given access to a State record under this Act is entitled to be given that access in any of the following ways—
- (a) by being given a reasonable opportunity to inspect the record,
 - (b) by being provided with a copy of the record,
 - (c) in the case of a record from which information can be produced or made available by means of equipment (such as a computer or projector), by being provided with access to that information by the use of that equipment,
