12 Defendants with mental health impairments or cognitive impairments

- (1) A Magistrate may make an order under this Division or adjourn proceedings if it appears to the Magistrate that the defendant has (or had at the time of the alleged commission of the offence to which the proceedings relate) a mental health impairment or a cognitive impairment, or both.
- (2) The Magistrate may take action under this Division only if it appears to the Magistrate, on an outline of the facts alleged in the proceedings or other evidence the Magistrate considers relevant, it would be more appropriate to deal with the defendant in accordance with this Division than otherwise in accordance with law.

- (3) This Division does not apply if the defendant is a mentally ill person or a mentally disordered person.

13 Adjournment of proceedings

A Magistrate may, for the purposes of this Division—

- (a) adjourn proceedings to enable—
- (i) the defendant's apparent mental health impairment or cognitive impairment to be assessed or diagnosed, or

15 Considerations of Magistrate when making order

In deciding whether it would be more appropriate to deal with a defendant in accordance with this Division, the Magistrate may consider the following—

- (a) the nature of the defendant's apparent mental health impairment or cognitive impairment,

- (i) other relevant factors.

16 Failure of defendant to comply with condition of order

- (2) If the defendant fails to appear, the Magistrate may—
 - (a) issue a warrant for the defendant's arrest, or
 - (b) authorise an authorised officer to issue a warrant for the defendant's arrest.

 - (a) issue a warrant for the defendant's arrest, or
 - (b) authorise an authorised officer to issue a warrant for the defendant's arrest.
- (4) If a Magistrate discharges a defendant subject to a condition under an order, and the defendant fails to comply with the condition within 12 months of the discharge, the Magistrate may deal with the charge as if the defendant had not been discharged.

17 Reports from treatment providers

- (1) Despite any law, a person who is, in accordance with an order under section 14, to assess another person's mental condition or provide treatment to another person (a treatment provider) may report a failure to comply with a condition of the order by the other person to any of the following—
 - (a) an officer of the Department of Communities and Justice,

- (2) A Magistrate may make an order under this Division without affecting any other order the Magistrate may make in relation to the defendant, whether by way of adjournment, the granting of bail in accordance with the Bail Act 2013 or otherwise.

Note—

Certain orders by a Magistrate or authorised justice under this Division in relation to an offence are taken to be a decision to dispense with bail for the offence (see section 24).

19 Orders Magistrate may make

A Magistrate may make one or more of the following orders—

- (a) an order that the defendant be taken to, and detained in, a mental health facility for assessment,
- (b) an order that the defendant be taken to, and detained in, a mental health facility for assessment and that, if the defendant is found on assessment at the mental health facility not to be a mentally ill person or mentally disordered person, the defendant be brought back before a Magistrate or an authorised justice as soon as practicable unless granted bail by a police officer at that facility,
- (c) an order for the discharge of the defendant, unconditionally or subject to conditions, into the care of a responsible person.

20 Community treatment orders

- (1) Without limiting section 19(c), the Magistrate may make a community treatment order in accordance with the Mental Health Act 2007 for implementation by a declared mental health facility in relation to the defendant, if the Magistrate is satisfied that all of the requirements for the making of a community treatment order at a mental health inquiry under that Act (other than the holding of an inquiry) have been met in respect of the defendant.
- (2) The Mental Health Act 2007 (other than section 51(1) and (2)) applies to and in respect of the defendant and a community treatment order as if the order had been made by the Tribunal under that Act.

21 Proceedings before authorised justice

- (1) If, at the commencement of or at any time during the course of the hearing of proceedings under the Bail Act 2013 before an authorised justice, it appears to the authorised justice that the defendant is a mentally ill person or a mentally disordered person, the authorised justice may (without affecting any other order under the Bail Act 2013 that the officer may make in relation to the defendant)—
 - (a) order that the defendant be taken to, and detained in, a mental health facility for assessment, or
 - (b) order that the defendant be taken to, and detained in, a mental health facility for assessment and that, if the defendant is found on assessment at the mental health facility not to be a mentally ill person or mentally disordered person, the defendant be brought back before a Magistrate or an authorised justice as soon as practicable unless granted bail by a police officer at that facility.
- (2) An authorised justice is to state the reasons for making a decision as to whether or not a defendant should be dealt with by an order under subsection (1).
- (3) A failure to comply with subsection (2) does not invalidate a decision of an authorised justice under this section.

22 Orders may relate to transfer of defendants by certain persons

- (1) An order by a Magistrate or authorised justice may provide that a defendant—
 - (a) in the case of a defendant who is under the age of 18 years, be taken to or from a place by a juvenile justice officer, or
 - (b) in the case of any defendant, be taken to or from a place by a person of a kind prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this section.
- (2) A function conferred on a juvenile justice officer under an order is taken to be a function under the Children (Detention Centres) Act 1987 and the juvenile justice officer has the same functions in respect of the defendant as the officer has in respect of a detainee under that Act and the regulations under that Act.
- (3) If a correctional officer has power under an order to take a defendant to or from a place, that power is taken to be a function under the Crimes (Administration of Sentences) Act 1999 and the correctional officer has the same functions in respect of the defendant as the officer has in respect of an inmate under that Act and the regulations under that Act.
- (4) In this section—correctional officer has the same meaning as in the Crimes (Administration of Sentences) Act 1999.

23 Dismissal of charges

- (1) If a defendant is dealt with by a Magistrate or authorised justice in accordance with this Division, the charge which gave rise to the proceedings, on the expiration of the period of 6 months after the date on which the defendant is so dealt with, is taken to have been dismissed unless, within that period, the defendant is brought before a Magistrate to be further dealt with in relation to the charge.
- (2) If a defendant is brought before a Magistrate to be further dealt with in relation to a charge, the Magistrate must, in dealing with the charge, take account of any period during which the defendant was detained in a mental health facility as a consequence of an order.
- (3) The fact that charges are taken to have been dismissed under subsection (1) does not constitute a finding that the charges against the defendant are proven or otherwise.

24 Bail

- (1) An order by a Magistrate or authorised justice under section 19(a) or (b) or 21(1)(a) or (b) in relation to an offence is, for the purposes of the Bail Act 2013, taken to be a decision to dispense with bail for the offence.
- (2) An order under section 19(b) or 21(1)(b) that a defendant be brought back before a Magistrate or authorised justice may be satisfied by taking the defendant to an appropriate police officer for the making of a bail decision in respect of the defendant.

- (1) A person is not criminally responsible for an offence if, at the time of carrying out the act constituting the offence, the person had a mental health impairment or a cognitive impairment, or both, that had the effect that the person—
 - (a) did not know the nature and quality of the act, or
 - (b) did not know that the act was wrong (that is, the person could not reason with a moderate degree of sense and composure about whether the act, as perceived by reasonable people, was wrong).
- (2) The question of whether a defendant had a mental health impairment or a cognitive impairment, or both, that had that effect is a question of fact and is to be determined by the jury on the balance of probabilities.
- (3) Until the contrary is proved, it is presumed that a defendant did not have a mental health impairment or cognitive impairment, or both, that had that effect.
- (4) In this Part, act includes—
 - (a) an omission, and
 - (b) a series of acts or omissions.

29 Explanation to jury

The judge must explain the following matters to the jury if the question of whether the defendant had a mental health impairment or a cognitive impairment, or both, as referred to in section 28(1) is raised—

- (a) the findings which may be made on the trial,
- (b) the legal and practical consequences of those findings,
- (c) the composition of the Tribunal and its relevant functions with respect to forensic patients,
- (d) without limiting paragraph (b), that a defendant who is found to have committed the act constituting the offence but not to be criminally responsible because of a mental health impairment or cognitive impairment, or both, may be ordered to be released by the Tribunal only if the Tribunal is satisfied, on the evidence available to it, that the safety of the defendant or any member of the public will not be seriously endangered by the defendant's release,
- (e) that the jury should not be influenced by the consequences of a special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible in deciding a verdict.

30 Effect of finding of act proven but not criminally responsible because of mental health impairment or cognitive impairment

A jury must return a special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible if the jury is satisfied that the defence of mental health impairment or cognitive impairment has been established.

31 Special verdict where defendant and prosecutor agree on impairment

The court may enter a special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible at any time in the proceedings (including before the jury is empanelled) if—

- (a) the defendant and the prosecutor agree that the proposed evidence in the proceedings establishes a defence of mental health impairment or cognitive impairment, and
- (b) the defendant is represented by an Australian legal practitioner, and
- (c) the court, after considering that evidence, is satisfied that the defence is so established.

32 Special verdict not available for alternative offence

The fact that a court enters a special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible in respect of an offence does not result in a requirement for the court to also enter a special verdict in respect of an offence available as an alternative to the offence.

33 Effect of special verdict

- (1) On the return of a special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible, the court may make one or more of the following orders—
 - (a) an order that the defendant be remanded in custody until a further order is made under this section,
 - (b) an order that the defendant be detained in the place and manner that the court thinks fit until released by due process of law,
 - (c) an order for the unconditional or conditional release of the defendant from custody,
 - (d) other orders that the court thinks appropriate.
- (2) Before making an order for the release of a defendant, the court may request a report by a forensic psychiatrist or other person of a class prescribed by the regulations, who is not currently involved in treating the defendant, as to the condition of the defendant and whether the release of the defendant is likely to seriously endanger the safety of the defendant or any member of the public.
- (3) The court must not make an order for the release of a defendant unless it is satisfied, on the balance of probabilities, that the safety of the defendant or any member of the public will not be seriously endangered by the defendant's release.

Note—

A person for whom a special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible is entered is a forensic patient unless unconditionally released and is to be dealt with under Part 5.

34 Referral of defendant to Tribunal

The court must refer the defendant to the Tribunal if a special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible is returned or entered and an order is not made for the unconditional release of the defendant.

Part 4 Fitness to stand trial

Division 1 Preliminary

35 Application of Part

This Part applies to criminal proceedings in the Supreme Court (including criminal proceedings within the summary jurisdiction of the Supreme Court) and the District Court.

36 Fitness test

- (1) For the purposes of proceedings to which this Part applies, a person is taken to be unfit to be tried for an offence if the person, because the person has a mental health impairment or cognitive impairment, or both, or for another reason, cannot do one or more of the following—

- (a) understand the offence the subject of the proceedings,
- (b) plead to the charge,
- (c) exercise the right to challenge jurors,
- (d) understand generally the nature of the proceedings as an inquiry into whether the person committed the offence with which the person is charged,
- (e) follow the course of the proceedings so as to understand what is going on in a general sense,
- (f) understand the substantial effect of any evidence given against the person,
- (g) make a defence or answer to the charge,
- (h) instruct the person's legal representative so as to mount a defence and provide the person's version of the facts to that legal representative and to the court if necessary,
- (i) decide what defence the person will rely on and make that decision known to the person's legal representative and the court.

- (2) This section does not limit the grounds on which a court may consider a person to be unfit to be tried for an offence.

37 When question of unfitness may be raised

- (1) The question of a defendant's unfitness to be tried for an offence is, so far as practicable, to be raised before the defendant is arraigned on a charge in respect of the offence but may be raised at any time during the course of the hearing of the proceedings in respect of the offence.
- (2) The question of a defendant's unfitness to be tried for an offence may be raised on more than one occasion in the same proceedings.

38 Question of unfitness to be determined on balance of probabilities

The question of a defendant's unfitness to be tried for an offence is to be determined on the balance of probabilities.

39 Court and other persons may raise question of unfitness

The court, the defendant or the prosecutor may raise the question of a defendant's unfitness to be tried for an offence.

Division 2 Procedure when question of unfitness to be tried raised

40 Procedure where question of unfitness raised before arraignment

- (1) If the question of a defendant's unfitness to be tried is raised before the defendant is arraigned on a charge in respect of the offence, the court must determine whether an inquiry should be conducted before the hearing of the proceedings in respect of the offence.
- (2) The court may, at any time before an inquiry is commenced, determine that there is no longer a need for the inquiry to be held.

41 Procedure where question of unfitness raised after arraignment

If the question of a defendant's unfitness to be tried is raised after the person is arraigned on a charge in respect of the offence, the court must hear any submissions relating to holding an inquiry in the absence of a jury which has been constituted for the purposes of the proceedings relating to the offence.

42 When an inquiry is required or may not be held

- (1) The court must conduct an inquiry to determine whether a defendant is unfit to be tried for an offence if—
 - (a) the court determines that an inquiry should be conducted before the defendant is arraigned on a charge in respect of the offence and does not subsequently determine that the inquiry is not needed, or
 - (b) the question of the defendant's unfitness to be tried is raised after the defendant is arraigned on a charge in respect of the offence.
- (2) The inquiry is to be held as soon as practicable after the court makes the determination or the question is raised after arraignment.
- (3) Despite subsection (1), the court is not required to hold an inquiry unless it appears to the court that the question of the defendant's unfitness to be tried for the offence has been raised in good faith.
- (4) Despite subsection (1), the court may determine not to hold an inquiry, dismiss the charge and order that the defendant be released if it is of the opinion, having regard to any of the following, that it is inappropriate to inflict any punishment—
 - (a) the trivial nature of the charge or offence,
 - (b) the nature of the defendant's mental health impairment or cognitive impairment,
 - (c) any other matter the court thinks proper to consider.

43 Actions pending inquiry

The court may do one or more of the following before holding an inquiry—

- (a) adjourn the proceedings,
- (b) grant the defendant bail in accordance with the Bail Act 2013,
- (c) order the defendant to be remanded in custody for a period not exceeding 28 days,
- (d) order the defendant to undergo a psychiatric examination or other examination,
- (e) order that a psychiatric report or other report relating to the defendant be obtained,
- (f) discharge a jury constituted for the purpose of the proceedings,
- (g) make other orders the court thinks appropriate.

44 Inquiry procedures

- (1) The question of a defendant's unfitness to be tried for an offence is to be determined by the judge alone.
- (2) At an inquiry, the defendant is to be represented by an Australian legal practitioner, unless the court otherwise allows.
- (3) An inquiry is not to be conducted in an adversarial manner.
- (4) The onus of proof of the question of a defendant's unfitness to be tried for an offence does not rest on any particular party to the proceedings.
- (5) In addition to any other matter the court may consider in determining whether the defendant is unfit to be tried for an offence, the court is to consider the following—
 - (a) whether the trial process can be modified, or assistance provided, to facilitate the defendant's understanding and effective participation in the trial,
 - (b) the likely length and complexity of the trial,
 - (c) whether the defendant is represented by an Australian legal practitioner, or can obtain representation by an Australian legal practitioner.

Note—

The test for determining whether or not a person is unfit to be tried for an offence is set out in section 36.

- (6) A determination by the judge must include the principles of law applied by the judge and the findings of fact on which the judge relied.

45 Presumptions as to findings about unfitness

It is presumed—

- (a) that a person who has, in accordance with this Part or on a review under Part 5, been found to be unfit to be tried for an offence continues to be unfit to be tried for the offence until the contrary is, on the balance of probabilities, determined to be the case, and
- (b) that a person who has, in accordance with this Part or on a review under Part 5, been found fit to be tried for an offence continues to be fit to be tried for the offence until the contrary is, on the balance of probabilities, determined to be the case.

46 Finding after inquiry that defendant is fit to be tried

If a defendant is found fit to be tried following an inquiry, the proceedings brought against the person in respect of the offence are to recommence or to continue in accordance with the appropriate criminal procedures.

47 Finding after inquiry that defendant is unfit to be tried

- (1) If a defendant is found unfit to be tried for an offence following an inquiry, the court must also determine whether, on the balance of probabilities, during the period of 12 months after the finding of unfitness, the defendant—
 - (a) may become fit to be tried for the offence, or
 - (b) will not become fit to be tried for the offence.
- (2) The court may do one or more of the following after a finding that a defendant is unfit to be tried for an offence—
 - (a) make an order discharging a jury constituted for the purpose of the proceedings,
 - (b) adjourn the proceedings,
 - (c) grant the defendant bail in accordance with the Bail Act 2013,
 - (d) make an order remanding the defendant in custody,
 - (e) make other orders that the court thinks appropriate.

48 Finding after inquiry that defendant will not become fit to be tried within 12 months

- (1) If the court determines that a defendant will not, during the period of 12 months after a finding by a court that the person is unfit to be tried for an offence, become fit to be tried for the offence, the defendant is to be dealt with under Division 3.
- (2) This section does not apply if the court is required to order the release of the defendant because of advice under section 53 that further proceedings will not be taken against the defendant in respect of the offence.

49 Tribunal review and court orders after finding that defendant may be fit to be tried within 12 months

- (1) The court must refer the defendant to the Tribunal for review if the court determines that the defendant is unfit to be tried for an offence and may become fit to be tried for the offence during the period of 12 months after the finding.
- (2) The court may grant the defendant bail in accordance with the Bail Act 2013 for a period not exceeding 12 months on being notified of a determination by the Tribunal under section 80 that the defendant has become fit to be tried for the offence.
- (3) As soon as practicable after an order is made or bail is granted under this section, the registrar of the court is to notify the Tribunal of the terms of the order or the grant of bail.

50 Finding by Tribunal that defendant is fit to be tried

- (1) If the court is notified by the Tribunal following a review that a defendant has become fit to be tried for an offence, the proceedings brought against the defendant in respect of the offence are to recommence or to continue in accordance with the appropriate criminal procedures.
- (2) A court is not to hold a further inquiry into the fitness of a defendant to be tried for an offence merely because the Tribunal notifies the court that the defendant has become fit to be tried for an offence.
- (3) Subsection (1) does not apply if the court is required to order the release of the defendant because of advice under section 53 that further proceedings will not be taken against the defendant in respect of the offence.

51 Finding by Tribunal that defendant will not become fit to be tried within 12 months

- (1) If the court is notified by the Tribunal following a review that a defendant has not and will not, during the period of 12 months after a finding by a court that the defendant is unfit to be tried for an offence, become fit to be tried for the offence, the defendant is to be dealt with under Division 3.
- (2) This section does not apply if the court is required to order the release of the defendant because of advice under section 53 that further proceedings will not be taken against the defendant in respect of the offence.

52 Committal proceedings following finding of fit to be tried

- (1) This section applies to a defendant who was committed for trial for an offence under Division 7 of Part 2 of Chapter 3 of the Criminal Procedure Act 1986.

- (2) The court may, on the application of the defendant or on its own motion, make an order remitting the matter to a Magistrate for the holding of a case conference under Division 5 of Part 2 of Chapter 3 of the Criminal Procedure Act 1986, if the defendant has, following an inquiry, been found fit to be tried for an offence.
- (3) The court must make the order on the application of the defendant unless it is satisfied that it is not in the interests of justice to do so or that the offence is not an offence in relation to which a case conference is required to be held under that Division.
- (4) The court may, on its own motion, make an order remitting the matter to a Magistrate for the holding of a case conference under Division 5 of Part 2 of Chapter 3 of the Criminal Procedure Act 1986 at any time, if it is satisfied that the question of the defendant's unfitness to be tried for an offence is not going to be raised in proceedings for the offence.
- (5) If a matter is remitted to a Magistrate, the matter is to be dealt with as if the defendant had not been committed for trial and the proceedings are taken to be a continuation of the original committal proceedings.
- (6) If no application is made or the matter is not remitted to a Magistrate, the matter is to be dealt with in accordance with section 50.

53 Advice as to whether further proceedings are to be taken

- (1) This section applies if—
 - (a) the court determines that a defendant will not, during the period of 12 months after a finding by a court that the person is unfit to be tried for an offence, become fit to be tried for an offence, or
 - (b) the Tribunal determines that a defendant has not become fit to be tried for an offence and will not become fit to be tried for an offence during the period of 12 months after a finding by a court that the person is unfit to be tried for an offence, or
 - (c) the Tribunal determines that a defendant or a forensic patient has become fit to be tried for an offence after a finding by a court that the person is unfit to be tried for an offence or a special hearing has been held for an offence.
- (2) The court must obtain advice from the Director of Public Prosecutions as to whether or not further proceedings will be taken by the Director in respect of the offence.
- (3) The court must order the release of the defendant if the Director of Public Prosecutions advises that further proceedings will not be taken by the Director in respect of the offence.

Note—

This does not prevent the admission of the defendant as a voluntary or an involuntary patient under the Mental Health Act 2007.

- (4) The Director of Public Prosecutions must notify the Minister for Police and Emergency Services and the Minister for Health of a decision by the Director that no further proceedings will be taken by the Director in respect of the offences.

Division 3 Special hearings

54 Nature of special hearings

In this Act, a special hearing is a hearing for the purpose of ensuring, despite the unfitness of the defendant to be tried in accordance with the normal procedures, that the defendant is acquitted unless it can be proved to the required criminal standard of proof that, on the limited evidence available, the defendant committed the offence charged, or another offence available as an alternative to the offence charged.

55 When special hearings are held

- (1) A court must hold a special hearing as soon as practicable after the court or the Tribunal determines that a defendant will not, during the period of 12 months after a finding that the person is unfit to be tried for an offence, become fit to be tried for the offence.
- (2) This section does not apply if the court is required to order the release of the defendant because of advice under section 53 that further proceedings will not be taken against the defendant in respect of the offence.

Note—

This does not prevent the admission of the defendant as a voluntary or an involuntary patient under the Mental Health Act 2007.

56 Procedure for special hearings

- (1) Trial procedure A special hearing is to be conducted as nearly as possible as if it were a trial of criminal proceedings.
- (2) The court may, if it thinks it appropriate in the circumstances of the case, modify court processes to facilitate the effective participation by the defendant in the special hearing.
- (3) Representation At a special hearing, the defendant must, unless the court otherwise allows, be represented by an Australian legal practitioner.
- (4) The fact that the defendant has been found unfit to be tried for an offence is to be presumed not to be an impediment to the person's representation.
- (5) Plea of not guilty The defendant is taken to have pleaded not guilty in respect of the offence charged.

- (6) Defences The defendant may raise any defence that could properly be raised if the special hearing were an ordinary trial of criminal proceedings.
- (7) Evidence and participation by defendant The defendant is entitled to give evidence.
- (8) The court may permit the defendant not to appear, or exclude the defendant from appearing, at a special hearing if the court thinks it appropriate in the circumstances and the defendant or the defendant's Australian legal practitioner agrees.
- (9) Judge to try proceedings, unless jury election The question of whether the defendant at a special hearing has committed an offence charged or another offence available as an alternative is to be determined by the judge alone unless an election to have the matter determined by a jury is made by—
 - (a) the defendant and the court is satisfied that the defendant sought and received advice about the election from an Australian legal practitioner and the defendant understood the advice, or
 - (b) an Australian legal practitioner representing the defendant, or
 - (c) the prosecutor.
- (10) Right to challenge jurors If a jury is to be constituted, the Australian legal practitioner (if any) representing the defendant may exercise the defendant's rights to challenge the jurors or jury.
- (11) Explanation to jury The court must explain the following matters to a jury constituted for the purposes of a special hearing—
 - (a) the fact that the defendant is unfit to be tried in accordance with the normal procedures,
 - (b) the meaning of unfitness to be tried,
 - (c) the purpose of the special hearing,
 - (d) the verdicts that are available to the jury,
 - (e) the legal and practical consequences of the verdicts.

57 Amendment of indictment

- (1) The Director of Public Prosecutions may, with the leave of the court or the consent of an Australian legal practitioner representing the defendant, amend an indictment to which a special hearing relates.
- (2) The provisions of the Criminal Procedure Act 1986 apply to the amendment of an indictment under this section in the same way as they apply to the amendment of an indictment in ordinary criminal proceedings, subject to any modifications that the court considers appropriate in the circumstances.

58 Juries at special hearings

- (1) An election to have a special hearing determined by a jury must be made—
 - (a) on a day before the day fixed for the special hearing, if the election is made by the defendant, or
 - (b) at least 7 days before the day fixed for the special hearing, if the election is made by the prosecutor.
- (2) The defendant, or an Australian legal practitioner for the defendant, may subsequently elect to have the special hearing determined by a judge instead of a jury.
- (3) The Jury Act 1977 applies to the constitution of a jury, and to a jury constituted, for a special hearing in the same way as it applies to the constitution of a jury, and to a jury constituted, for a trial of criminal proceedings.
- (4) A member of a jury otherwise constituted for the purpose of a proceeding related to the same defendant and the same offence is not eligible to be a member of a jury constituted for the purposes of a special hearing.
- (5) Rules of court may be made with respect to elections to have a special hearing determined by a jury.

59 Verdicts at special hearings

- (1) The verdicts available at a special hearing include the following—
 - (a) not guilty of the offence charged,
 - (b) a special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible,
 - (c) that on the limited evidence available, the defendant committed the offence charged,
 - (d) that on the limited evidence available, the defendant committed an offence available as an alternative to the offence charged.
- (2) A judge who determines a special hearing must include in the determination the principles of law applied by the judge and the findings of fact on which the judge relied.
- (3) A special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible may only be entered under this section if the judge is satisfied that the requirements of section 28(1) and

(2) are met.

60 Verdict of not guilty

A defendant who is found not guilty of an offence at a special hearing is to be dealt with as if the defendant had been found not guilty of the offence at an ordinary trial of criminal proceedings.

61 Special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible because of mental health impairment or cognitive impairment

- (1) A special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible at a special hearing is taken for all purposes to be a verdict reached at an ordinary trial of criminal proceedings.
- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), the court may make any order or take any action in respect of the defendant that a court could make on reaching the same verdict under Part 3.

62 Verdict of offence committed on limited evidence available

A verdict at a special hearing that on the limited evidence available the defendant committed the offence charged or an offence available as an alternative to the offence charged—

- (a) constitutes a qualified finding of guilt and does not constitute a basis in law for a conviction for the offence to which the finding relates, and
- (b) is subject to appeal in the same manner as a verdict in an ordinary trial of criminal proceedings, and
- (c) is taken to be a conviction for the purpose of enabling a victim of the offence to make a claim for compensation.

63 Penalties after finding of guilt

- (1) Application of section This section applies if a court finds at a special hearing that on the limited evidence available the defendant committed the offence charged or an offence available as an alternative to the offence charged.
- (2) Limiting terms If the court would have imposed a sentence of imprisonment for the offence if the special hearing had been an ordinary trial of criminal proceedings and the person had been fit to be tried for the offence, the court must nominate a term (a limiting term) that is the best estimate of the sentence that the court would have imposed on the defendant in those circumstances.
- (3) Other penalties and orders If the court determines that it would not have imposed a sentence of imprisonment, the court may impose any other penalty or make any order it might have imposed or made if the defendant had been found guilty of the offence in an ordinary trial of criminal proceedings.

- (4) The penalty or order is to be subject to appeal in the same manner as a penalty or order in an ordinary trial of criminal proceedings.
- (5) Factors for consideration in determining penalty Without limiting subsection (2) or (3), in determining a limiting term or other penalty, the court—
 - (a) must take into account that, because of the defendant’s mental health impairment or cognitive impairment, or both, the person may not be able to demonstrate mitigating factors for sentencing or make a guilty plea for the purposes of obtaining a sentencing discount, and
 - (b) may apply a discount of a kind that represents part or all of the sentencing discounts that are capable of applying to a sentence because of those factors or a guilty plea, and
 - (c) must take into account periods of the defendant’s custody or detention before, during and after the special hearing that related to the offence.
- (6) Notice to Tribunal where no limiting term imposed If the court indicates that it would not have imposed a sentence of imprisonment in respect of a defendant, the court must notify the Tribunal that a limiting term is not to be nominated in respect of the person.

64 Commencement of limiting terms

- (1) A limiting term takes effect from when it is nominated unless—
 - (a) the court determines it is taken to have effect from an earlier time, after taking into account periods of the defendant’s custody or detention before, during and after the special hearing that related to the offence, or
 - (b) the court directs that the term commence at a later time so as to be served consecutively with (or partly concurrently and partly consecutively with) some other limiting term nominated for the person or sentence of imprisonment imposed on the person.
- (2) Before making a direction that the term commence at a later time, the court is to take into account the following—
 - (a) a sentence of imprisonment imposed in an ordinary trial of criminal proceedings may be subject to a non-parole period but a limiting term is not,
 - (b) in an ordinary trial of criminal proceedings, consecutive sentences of imprisonment are to be imposed with regard to non-parole periods.

65 Referral to Tribunal after limiting term imposed

- (1) The court must refer the defendant to the Tribunal if it nominates a limiting term for the defendant and must notify the Tribunal of orders it makes under this section.
- (2) The court may order that the defendant be detained in a mental health facility, correctional centre, detention centre or other place pending the review of the defendant by the Tribunal.

66 Reports about defendant

- (1) The court may, following a verdict being reached at a special hearing and on its own motion, request a report by a forensic psychiatrist or other person of a class prescribed by the regulations, who is not currently involved in treating the defendant, as to the condition of the defendant and whether the release of the defendant is likely to seriously endanger the safety of the defendant or any member of the public.
- (2) The court may consider the report, and any other report of an expert that is tendered to the court for the purposes of this section, before determining what orders to make about the defendant.

67 Referral of defendant to Tribunal following special verdict

The court must refer the defendant to the Tribunal if there is a special verdict of act proven but not criminally responsible at a special hearing and an order is not made for the unconditional release of the defendant.

68 Effect of finding that offence was committed on other proceedings for the offence

- (1) A verdict at a special hearing that on the limited evidence available the defendant committed the offence charged or an offence available as an alternative to the offence charged constitutes a bar to any other criminal proceedings for the same offence or substantially the same offence.
- (2) Despite subsection (1), criminal proceedings for the same offence or substantially the same offence may be commenced against a defendant if—
 - (a) a limiting term has been nominated at the special hearing for the defendant, and
 - (b) the limiting term has not expired, and
 - (c) the defendant has not been released from custody as an inmate or discharged from detention as a forensic patient.
- (3) Despite subsection (1), criminal proceedings for the same offence or substantially the same offence may be commenced against a defendant if the defendant is subject to an extension order or interim extension order.
- (4) A defendant who has been released from custody under a conditional release order or leave order made by the Tribunal is not a person who has been released from custody for the purposes of subsection (2)(c).

- (5) A court must, in sentencing a defendant found guilty in ordinary criminal proceedings of the same offence or substantially the same offence, fully take into account periods of the defendant's custody or detention before, during and after the special hearing that related to the offence.

Note—

Part 6 of that Act contains provisions permitting the granting of parole to certain persons serving full-time sentences of detention.

Nothing in this Part limits the application of the Mental Health Act 2007 to a person who has been granted conditional release or leave of absence under this Part.

Part 6 Extension of status as forensic patient

Division 1 Extension orders

121 Extension orders for forensic patients

- (1) The Supreme Court may, on application under Division 2, make an order for the extension of a person's status as a forensic patient.
- (2) An order made under this section is an extension order.

122 Forensic patients in respect of whom extension orders may be made

- (1) A forensic patient can be made the subject of an extension order as provided for by this Part if and only if the Supreme Court is satisfied to a high degree of probability that—
 - (a) the forensic patient poses an unacceptable risk of causing serious harm to others if the patient ceases to be a forensic patient, and
 - (b) the risk cannot be adequately managed by other less restrictive means.
- (2) The Supreme Court is not required to determine that the risk of a person causing serious harm to others is more likely than not in order to determine that the person poses an unacceptable risk of causing serious harm to others.

Note—

Less restrictive means of managing a risk includes, but is not limited to, a patient being involuntarily detained or treated under the Mental Health Act 2007.

Division 2 Application for extension orders

123 Minister may apply for extension order

A Minister administering this Act may apply to the Supreme Court for an extension order against a forensic patient.

124 Application for extension order

- (1) An application for an extension order may be made in respect of a forensic patient only if the forensic patient is subject to—
 - (a) a limiting term, or
 - (b) an existing extension order.
- (2) An application in respect of a forensic patient may not be made more than 6 months before—
 - (a) the end of the forensic patient's limiting term, or

- (b) the expiry of the existing extension order, as appropriate.

125 Requirements with respect to application

An application for an extension order must be supported by documentation—

- (a) that addresses each of the matters referred to in section 127(2) (to the extent relevant to the application), and
- (b) that includes a report (prepared by a qualified psychiatrist, registered psychologist or registered medical practitioner)—
 - (i) that assesses the risk of the forensic patient causing serious harm to others, and
 - (ii) that addresses the need for ongoing management of the patient as a forensic patient and the reasons why the risk of the forensic patient causing serious harm to others cannot be adequately managed by other less restrictive means.

126 Pre-hearing procedures

- (1) An application under this Division for an extension order must be served on the forensic patient concerned within 2 business days after the application is filed in the Supreme Court or within any further time that the Supreme Court may allow.
- (2) The Minister applying for the extension order must notify the Tribunal as soon as practicable after making the application.
- (3) Subject to subsections (7)–(9), the Minister applying for the extension order must disclose to the forensic patient the documents, reports and other information that are relevant to the proceedings on the application (whether or not intended to be tendered in evidence)—
 - (a) in the case of anything that is available when the application is made, as soon as practicable after the application is made, and
 - (b) in the case of anything that subsequently becomes available, as soon as practicable after it becomes available.
- (4) A preliminary hearing into the application is to be conducted by the Supreme Court within 28 days after the application is filed in the Supreme Court or within any further time that the Supreme Court may allow.
- (5) If, following the preliminary hearing, the Supreme Court is satisfied that the matters alleged in the supporting documentation would, if proved, justify the making of an extension order, the Supreme Court must make orders—
 - (a) appointing—

- (i) 2 qualified psychiatrists, or
 - (ii) 2 registered psychologists, or
 - (iii) 2 registered medical practitioners, or
 - (iv) any combination of 2 persons referred to in subparagraphs (i)–(iii), to conduct separate examinations of the forensic patient and to give reports to the Supreme Court on the results of those examinations, and
- (b) directing the forensic patient to attend those examinations.
- (6) If, following the preliminary hearing, the Supreme Court is not satisfied that the matters alleged in the supporting documentation would, if proved, justify the making of an extension order, the Supreme Court must dismiss the application.
- (7) A forensic patient in respect of whom an application for an extension order has been made is, unless the Supreme Court otherwise determines, entitled to inspect or otherwise have access to any medical records in the possession of any person relating to the forensic patient.
- (8) A representative of the forensic patient is entitled, at any time before or during the proceedings on the application, to inspect or otherwise have access to any medical records in the possession of any person relating to the forensic patient.
- (9) Subject to any order or direction of the Supreme Court, in relation to an inspection under subsection (8) of, or other access under that subsection to, any medical record relating to a forensic patient—
- (a) if a medical practitioner warns the representative of the forensic patient that it may be harmful to communicate to the forensic patient, or any other person, specified information contained in those medical records, the representative is to have full and proper regard to that warning, and
 - (b) the representative is not obliged to disclose to the forensic patient any information obtained by virtue of the inspection or other access.

Division 3 Determination of applications

127 Determination of application for extension orders

- (1) The Supreme Court may determine an application under this Division for an extension order—
- (a) by making the order, or
 - (b) by dismissing the application.

- (2) In determining whether or not to make an extension order, the Supreme Court must have regard to the following matters in addition to any other matter it considers relevant—
- (a) the safety of the community,
 - (b) the reports received from the persons appointed under section 126(5) to conduct examinations of the forensic patient,
 - (c) the report of the qualified psychiatrist, registered psychologist or registered medical practitioner provided under section 125(b),
 - (d) any other report of a qualified psychiatrist, registered psychologist or registered medical practitioner provided in support of the application or by the forensic patient,
 - (e) any order or decision made by the Tribunal with respect to the forensic patient that is relevant to the application,
 - (f) any report of the Secretary of the Ministry of Health, the Commissioner of Corrective Services, the Secretary of the Department of Communities and Justice or any other government Department or agency responsible for the detention, care or treatment of the forensic patient,
 - (g) the level of the forensic patient’s compliance with any obligations to which the patient is or has been subject while a forensic patient (including while released from custody subject to conditions and while on leave of absence granted under this Act),
 - (h) the views of the court that imposed the limiting term or existing extension order on the forensic patient at the time the limiting term or extension order was imposed,
 - (i) any other information that is available as to the risk that the forensic patient will in future cause serious harm to others.
- (3) If the Supreme Court makes an extension order in respect of a forensic patient, the Court is to notify the Tribunal of the making of the order.

128 Term of extension orders

- (1) An extension order—
- (a) commences when it is made, or when the limiting term or existing extension order to which the forensic patient is subject expires, whichever is the later, and
 - (b) expires at the end of the period (not exceeding 5 years from the day on which it commences) that is specified in the order.

- (2) Nothing in this section prevents the Supreme Court from making a second or subsequent extension order against the same forensic patient.

129 Continuation of orders relating to forensic patients

The making of an extension order or interim extension order in respect of a forensic patient does not affect the operation of any order as to the forensic patient's care, detention, treatment or release from custody to which the forensic patient was subject immediately before the making of the extension order.

Division 4 Interim extension orders

130 Interim extension orders

The Supreme Court may make an order for the interim extension of a person's status as a forensic patient if, in proceedings on an application for an extension order, it appears to the Court—

- (a) that the limiting term or existing extension order to which the forensic patient is subject will expire before the proceedings are determined, and
- (b) that the matters alleged in the supporting documentation would, if proved, justify the making of an extension order.

131 Term of interim extension orders

- (1) An interim extension order commences on the day fixed in the order for its commencement (or, if no day is fixed, as soon as it is made) and expires at the end of the period (not exceeding 3 months from the day on which it commences) that is specified in the order.
- (2) An interim extension order made for a period of less than 3 months may be renewed from time to time, but not so as to provide for the extension of the person's status as a forensic patient under an order of that kind for periods totalling more than 3 months.

132 Interim extension orders to continue in force for 24 hours in certain circumstances

- (1) If the Supreme Court dismisses an application for an extension order in respect of a forensic patient who is detained only as a result of an interim extension order, the Court may (on its own motion or on application) order that the patient be detained for a further period of up to 24 hours to enable a medical practitioner or accredited person to assess whether a mental health certificate should be given in respect of the patient under section 19 of the Mental Health Act 2007.
- (2) The order ceases to authorise the detention of the person if the medical practitioner or accredited person making the assessment decides not to give that mental health certificate about the person.

Division 5 Extension orders or interim extension orders may be varied or revoked

133 Extension order or interim extension order may be varied or revoked

- (1) The Supreme Court may at any time vary or revoke an extension order or interim extension order—
 - (a) on the application of a Minister administering this Act or the forensic patient, or
 - (b) on the recommendation of the Tribunal under section 83(3).
- (2) The period of an order must not be varied so that the total period as varied is greater than that otherwise permitted under this Part.
- (3) Without limiting the grounds for revoking an extension order or interim extension order, the Supreme Court may revoke an extension order or interim extension order if satisfied that circumstances have changed sufficiently to render the order unnecessary.

Division 6 Supreme Court proceedings

134 Nature of proceedings

Proceedings under this Part (including proceedings on an appeal under this Part) are civil proceedings and, to the extent to which this Part does not provide for their conduct, are to be conducted in accordance with the law (including the rules of evidence) relating to civil proceedings.

135 Right of appeal

- (1) An appeal to the Court of Appeal lies from a determination of the Supreme Court to make, or to refuse to make, or to vary or revoke an extension order.
- (2) An appeal may be on a question of law, a question of fact or a question of mixed law and fact.
- (3) An appeal against the decision of the Supreme Court may be made, as of right, within 28 days after the date on which the decision was made or, by leave, within the further time as the Court of Appeal may allow.
- (4) The making of an appeal does not stay the operation of an extension order.
- (5) If the Court of Appeal remits a matter to the Supreme Court for decision after an appeal is made, the extension order the subject of the appeal continues in force, subject to any order made by the Court of Appeal.
- (6) Without limiting any other jurisdiction it may have, if the Court of Appeal remits a matter to the Supreme Court for decision after an appeal is made, the Court of Appeal may make an interim order revoking or varying an extension order the subject of the appeal.

(7) This section does not limit any right of appeal that may exist apart from this Part.
