mine, in relation to uranium, includes to produce uranium ore concentrates in a mill or other plant.

nuclear facility means a nuclear facility within the meaning of section 8.

nuclear fuel cycle includes any process or step in the utilisation of material capable of undergoing nuclear fission, including its ultimate disposal.

nuclear material means any radioactive substance associated with the nuclear fuel cycle, including radioactive waste material.

 - (b) the Work Health and Safety Act 2011.

Part 2 Prohibition of uranium mining and certain nuclear facilities

7 Mining for uranium prohibited

- (1) A person shall not mine for uranium.
Maximum penalty—1,000 penalty units.
- (2) An authority, mineral claim or opal prospecting licence under the Mining Act 1992 (whether granted before or after the commencement of this subsection) does not authorise the holder of the authority, claim or licence to mine for uranium in contravention of this section.
- (3) A person who mines uranium in the course of mining for some other mineral is not guilty of an offence under this section if—
 - (a) the person establishes that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the amount of uranium in the total amount of material that has at that stage been removed from the land being mined does not exceed .02 per cent by weight, and

(b) the person complies with such conditions (if any) as may be prescribed by the regulations with respect to the mining and the treatment, handling and disposal of the material containing uranium.

(4) Nothing in this section prevents a person from using radiometric or other means for searching for a mineral other than uranium.

8 Constructing or operating certain nuclear facilities prohibited

(1) In this section—

nuclear facility means—

- (a) a facility for the conversion of uranium ore into uranium hexafluoride or any other chemical in order to enable its enrichment,
- (b) an isotope separation plant or other facility for the enrichment of nuclear material,
- (c) a fabrication plant or other facility for transforming nuclear material into a form suitable for use as fuel in a nuclear reactor,
- (d) a nuclear reactor, whether or not designed for the purpose of generating electricity,
- (e) a reprocessing plant or other facility for the chemical separation of fuel that has been irradiated in a nuclear reactor, or
- (f) a separate storage installation for the storage or disposal of any nuclear material (including radioactive waste material) in the nuclear fuel cycle, being nuclear material used in or resulting from any of the facilities described in paragraphs (a)–(e).

(2) A person shall not construct or operate a nuclear facility.

Maximum penalty—1,000 penalty units.

(3) Nothing in this section prevents—

- (a) the construction or operation, under an Act of the Commonwealth, of a nuclear facility by the Australian Atomic Energy Commission or by any authority of the Commonwealth that replaces that Commission,
- (b) the construction or operation of a facility for the storage or disposal of any radioactive waste material resulting from the use of nuclear materials for research or medical purposes or for any other purpose authorised under the Radioactive Substances Act 1957, or
- (c) the operation of a nuclear powered vessel.

9 State authorities not to construct or operate nuclear reactors to generate electricity

Without affecting the generality of this Act, nothing in any other Act authorises an authority of the State (including an electricity generator within the meaning of the Energy Services Corporations Act 1995) to construct or operate, or to approve or permit the construction or operation of, a nuclear reactor for the purpose of generating electricity or any other form of energy.
