- (10) For the purposes of this clause, an order under section 10 of the Crimes \(Sentencing Procedure\) Act 1999 in relation to an offence is taken to be a conviction for an offence.

5 Publication of information about residents committee

For the purposes of section 19 (1) (d) of the Act, the Commissioner is to arrange for information contained in the Register about whether a Community has a residents committee to be published on the internet for public access.

6 Standard form of site agreement

The standard form of site agreement is the form set out in Schedule 1.

7 Form of site condition report

- (1) A site condition report, in the form set out in Schedule 2, must be—
 - (a) completed by the parties to a site agreement at or before the time the agreement is given to the home owner for signing, and
 - (b) annexed to the agreement.
- (2) The parties are not required to complete and annex a further condition report to any site agreement that replaces another site agreement between the parties in relation to the same residential site.

8 Prohibited terms of site agreement

- (1) The following types of terms are prohibited in a site agreement—
 - (a) a term for, or with respect to, the indemnification of the operator or owner of the community against any liability (including vicarious liability) of the operator or owner for damage, loss or injury arising from an act or omission of the operator or owner (or the operator's or owner's employees or agents) in relation to the occupation or use of the residential site,

- (b) a term requiring the home owner who is a party to the agreement to take out any form of insurance, other than a term permitted by subclause (2),
 - (c) a term providing that, if the home owner breaches the agreement, the home owner is liable to pay—
 - (i) an increased amount of site fees (or other charges payable by the home owner under the agreement), or
 - (ii) any amount as a penalty, or
 - (iii) any amount as liquidated damages,
 - (d) a term providing that, if the home owner does not breach the site agreement—
 - (i) site fees (or other charges payable by the home owner under the agreement) are or may be reduced, or
 - (ii) the home owner is to be or may be paid a rebate of site fees (or other charges payable by the home owner under the agreement) or other benefit.
- (2) For the purposes of subclause (1) (b), a term requiring a home to be insured is permitted in a site agreement if—
- (a) the site agreement provides for a voluntary sharing arrangement only of a kind referred to in section 110 (2) (c) of the Act, and
 - (b) the term requires the operator to share the cost of the insurance with the home owner in the same proportion as the capital gain is shared, or as the on-site premium is calculated in relation to the total sale price, as the case requires.
- (3) A reference in this clause to a home owner includes a reference to a prospective home owner.

9 Retaliatory conduct

For the purposes of paragraph (c) of the definition of retaliatory conduct in section 56 (3) of the Act, the withdrawal or withholding of a service or use of a facility (whether or not provided for in a site agreement) is prescribed.

10 Sewerage charges payable by home owner

- (1) This clause applies to residential sites—
- (a) at which water and sewerage services are provided to the operator by a water supply authority, and
 - (b) at which water use is separately measured or metered but at which sewerage use is not separately measured or metered,

but only where—

(c) the water supply authority charges for water and sewerage services separately, and

(d) the water supply authority specifies a sewerage discharge factor to calculate the sewerage use (however described) either in the bill or in another reasonably accessible way.

(2) If, for a particular period, the operator of a community has paid or is liable to pay the charges levied by the water supply authority for sewerage services in respect of residential sites to which this clause applies, those sites are exempt from the operation of section 77 (2) (a) of the Act, subject to the condition set out in subclause (3).

(3) The condition is that the operator—

(a) may only charge the home owner of a residential site to which this clause applies an amount for sewerage use calculated by multiplying the volume of water used during the particular period as indicated by the water meter reading for the residential site by the relevant discharge factor, and

(b) must not require payment of an amount for sewerage use in respect of the period concerned that is not calculated in accordance with paragraph (a).

11 Maximum service availability charge generally

(1) The maximum service availability charge payable, in respect of any period, by a home owner to the operator for the provision of a utility (other than electricity) at a residential site is the service availability charge for the period billed to the operator by the utility service provider or regulated offer retailer for the provision of the utility to the community in which the residential site is located divided by the number of residential places in the area of the community.

(2) In this clause, residential places in the area of the community means all the following sites which are located in that area and in relation to which the operator is billed—

(a) residential sites as defined in the Act,

(b) other sites (if any) connected to the relevant utility which—

(i) are used or are ordinarily used for accommodation, or are intended to be used for accommodation, or

(ii) are, or ordinarily are, or are intended to be, the subject of any arrangements referred to in section 7 of the Act.

12 Maximum service availability charge—water and sewerage

Despite clause 11, the service availability charges payable by a home owner to an operator of a community for both water and sewerage must not exceed $50 in total for all those service availability charges payable by the home owner in any calendar year.

13 Maximum service availability charge—electricity

- (1) The maximum service availability charge payable, in respect of any period, by a home owner to the operator for the supply of electricity at a residential site is the amount that would have been payable for the period if the electricity had been supplied to a small customer under a standard retail contract of the applicable local area retailer at standing offer prices.
- (2) Despite subclause (1), the service availability charge payable by a home owner to an operator of a community for supply at a residential site of less than 60 amps of electricity is to be discounted in accordance with subclause (3).
- (3) The maximum service availability charge payable by a home owner to an operator for supply at a residential site of less than 60 amps of electricity is—
 - (a) if less than 20 amps of electricity is supplied to the residential site—20 per cent of the service availability charge that would apply if the home owner were a small customer under a standard retail contract of the applicable local area retailer, or
 - (b) if 20 amps or more but less than 30 amps of electricity is supplied to the residential site—50 per cent of that service availability charge, or
 - (c) if 30 amps or more but less than 60 amps of electricity is supplied to the residential site—70 per cent of that service availability charge.
- (4) In this clause, local area retailer, small customer, standard retail contract and standing offer prices have the same meanings as in the National Energy Retail Law \(NSW\).

14 Maximum service availability charge—offence

The operator of a community must not request a home owner to pay, or receive from a home owner, more than the maximum service availability charges provided for in this Regulation.

Maximum penalty—10 penalty units.

15 Cases where a residential site has 2 or more home owners

- (1) The purpose of this clause is to ensure that regard is to be had to only one home owner for each residential site for the particular purposes mentioned in subclause (2).

- (2) This clause applies for the purposes of the following matters, in cases where there is more than one home owner for a particular residential site—
 - (a) determining the percentage of home owners—in connection with a resolution under section 50 (3) of the Act that is to be passed by a certain percentage of home owners in relation to a special levy,
 - (b) determining the percentage of home owners—in connection with an application under section 69 (2) of the Act for mediation that is to be signed by a certain percentage of home owners.
- (3) All but one of 2 or more home owners for such a site are excluded from the definition of home owner in section 4 (1) of the Act for those purposes only.

Note—

The definition of home owner authorises the exclusion by the regulations of persons or classes of persons from the definition.

16 Applications to Tribunal

For the purposes of section 156 (2) of the Act, an application to the Tribunal under a provision referred to in Column 1 of Schedule 3 must be made within the period specified opposite in Column 2.

17 Penalty notice offences and penalties

- (1) For the purposes of section 177 of the Act—
 - (a) each offence created by a provision specified in Column 1 of Schedule 4 is an offence for which a penalty notice may be served, and
 - (b) the penalty prescribed for each such offence is the amount specified opposite the provision in Column 2 of that Schedule.
- (2) If the reference to a provision in Column 1 of Schedule 4 is qualified by words that restrict its operation to specified kinds of offences, an offence created by the provision is a prescribed offence only if it is an offence of a kind so specified or committed in the circumstances so specified.

operator that are to be let to tenants.

- 3 This is a residential community, not a retirement village, and this site agreement is regulated by the Residential \(Land Lease\) Communities Act 2013.
- 4 Occupation of the residential site is a leasehold right only. This agreement may, in limited circumstances set out in the Act, be terminated.

- 6 The Act gives you a 14-day cooling-off period from when you enter into this site agreement during which time you may rescind the agreement for any reason without penalty or compensation being payable to any person. See the standard terms of this agreement for further details.
- 7 You should make sure that the details contained in the disclosure statement are the same as in this agreement, where relevant.
- 8 You are entitled to receive a copy of this agreement free of charge, once it has been signed by both parties.
