- (1) The Supreme Court may grant—
 - (a) probate of a will, or

- (2) This section does not limit the generality of the powers or other functions of the Supreme Court or the NSW Trustee.

Under section 61 of the Probate and Administration Act 1898, a deceased person's estate vests in the NSW Trustee until probate, administration or an order to collect is granted.

23 Intestacy where no letters of administration (cf PT Act, s 18 (1A))

- (1) The NSW Trustee is, on application, entitled as of right to a grant of administration of the estate of a person who died intestate leaving property in New South Wales if—
 - (a) letters of administration of the deceased person's estate have not been granted, or deceased person is granted.

- (3) However, if the NSW Trustee and any other person severally apply for the administration of the deceased person's estate, the Supreme Court may grant administration of the estate to the NSW Trustee or other person, as the Court thinks fit.

24 Transfer of administration of estate to NSW Trustee (cf PT Act, s 18 (2))

- (1) The Supreme Court may make an order transferring an estate to the NSW Trustee for administration, on application by an executor who has been granted probate or an administrator who has been granted administration. - (3) On an order transferring an estate being made, section 75A of the Probate and Administration Act 1898 applies as if the NSW Trustee had been appointed as an administrator under that section.

25 Administration of estates in cases of supposed deaths (cf PT Act, s 23)

- (1) The Supreme Court may order the NSW Trustee to administer the estate of a person if it appears to the Court that there are reasonable grounds to suppose that the person has died intestate (whether in or outside New South Wales) leaving property in New South Wales.
- (2) If such an order is made, the NSW Trustee may—
 - (a) collect, manage and administer the personal estate of the person, and
 - (b) enter and manage the real estate of the person, including receiving the rents and profits of any such estate, and
 - (c) pay and discharge the debts and liabilities of the person.
- (3) The NSW Trustee may exercise any such function as if the person were certainly dead and the NSW Trustee had obtained a grant of probate or administration.
- (4) The NSW Trustee must not distribute any assets of the person's estate except in accordance with an order of the Supreme Court specially authorising the distribution.

 - (b) no person has obtained probate of the estate or taken out administration, and
 - (c) the NSW Trustee is entitled to obtain probate or letters of administration of the estate, and
 - (d) the NSW Trustee has made due inquiries as to the will, if the deceased person died testate.
- (2) An election must be sealed by the NSW Trustee and must set out—
 - (a) the name, residence and occupation (as far as it is known to the NSW Trustee) of the deceased person, and
 - (b) particulars of property forming the deceased person's estate, and
 - (c) the date of the deceased person's death as then known to the NSW Trustee, and
 - (d) if the deceased person died testate, state that, after due inquiries, the NSW Trustee believes that the document annexed to the election is the testator's last will and that the will has been validly executed according to the law governing the execution of wills.
- (3) On an election being filed, the NSW Trustee is taken to have been appointed by the Supreme Court as the executor of the estate or the administrator of the estate.

27 Election to administer where previous executor or administrator (cf PT Act, s 18A (3A))

- (1) The NSW Trustee may file an election to administer the unadministered estate of a deceased person who died testate or intestate in the registry of the Supreme Court, instead of taking out administration de bonis non, if—
