- (2) A motor vehicle used in connection with an offence under section 40 or 41 (2) of the Road Transport (Safety and Traffic Management) Act 1999 that is the first offence by the offending operator under the provision concerned is, by the finding of guilt by the court, liable to be impounded for a period of 3 months unless the court otherwise directs under subsection (3) or (5).
- (3) The court may (if appropriate in view of any restrictions imposed under section 219C (4)), by order, direct that instead of being impounded the motor vehicle be clamped by a clamping agent at an appropriate place for a period of 3 months at a place specified in the order.
- (4) A motor vehicle used in connection with an offence under section 40 or 41 (2) of the Road Transport (Safety and Traffic Management) Act 1999 that is a second or subsequent offence by the offending operator under the provision concerned is, by the finding of guilt by the court, forfeited to the Crown unless the court otherwise directs under subsection (5).

Note—

A forfeited motor vehicle may be crash tested—see section 227 (5).

- (5) The court may by order direct that a period of clamping or impounding imposed by this section be reduced or dispensed with, or that a forfeiture imposed by or under this section be commuted to a period of clamping or impounding specified in the order, if the court is satisfied that the clamping or impounding of the motor vehicle will cause extreme hardship to the offending operator or any other person.

- (6) For the purposes of subsection (5), difficulty in carrying out employment (whether paid or unpaid) or in travelling to a place of employment or business or to any place for the purposes of education, training or study does not constitute extreme hardship.
- (7) The period for which a motor vehicle was clamped or impounded under section 218 is to be reckoned as counting towards a period of clamping or impounding imposed by or under this section.
- (8) Any impounding, clamping or forfeiture under this section is in addition to any other penalty that may be imposed for the offence concerned, but for the purposes of any rights of appeal against a penalty so imposed by the court finding the offence to be proven, the impounding, clamping or forfeiture is taken to be, or to be part of, that penalty.

219A Impounding, clamping or forfeiture of vehicles on finding of guilt of driver who is not the registered operator of the vehicle

- (1) In this section:

offending driver means an offender who, at the time of the offence, was the driver of a motor vehicle but was not a registered operator of the vehicle.

- (2) As soon as reasonably practicable after a motor vehicle is used for the first time in connection with an offence for which an offending driver is found guilty under section 40 or 41 (2) of the Road Transport (Safety and Traffic Management) Act 1999, the Authority is to give the registered operator of the motor vehicle a suspension warning notice in accordance with section 219B.
- (3) If a registered operator of a motor vehicle who was given a suspension warning notice is the registered operator of the same or another motor vehicle that is used in connection with a second offence under section 40 or 41 (2) of the Road Transport (Safety and Traffic Management) Act 1999 for which an offending driver is found guilty during the period of 5 years after the suspension warning notice was given to the registered operator:
 - (a) the Authority may suspend the registration of the motor vehicle used in connection with the second offence for a period not exceeding 3 months, or
 - (b) if the motor vehicle is unregistered, registration of the vehicle is suspended or the expiry date of the registration is within 28 days after a person is found guilty of the offence concerned, the Commissioner is to cause the vehicle to be clamped by a clamping agent at an appropriate place or impounded for a period of 3 months.

- (4) If the registered operator of a motor vehicle who was given a suspension warning notice is the registered operator of the same or another motor vehicle used in connection with an offence under section 40 or 41 (2) of the Road Transport (Safety and Traffic Management) Act 1999 that is a third or subsequent offence under either of those provisions for which an offending driver is found guilty in the period of 5 years after the suspension warning notice was given, the motor vehicle used in connection with the third or subsequent offence is, by the finding of guilt by the court, forfeited to the Crown, unless the court otherwise directs under subsection (5).

Note—

A forfeited motor vehicle may be crash tested—see section 227 (5).

- (5) The court may by order direct that a forfeiture imposed by this section be dispensed with or commuted to a period of clamping or impounding specified in the order if the court is satisfied that the forfeiture of the motor vehicle will cause extreme hardship to the offending driver or any other person.
- (6) The period for which a motor vehicle was clamped or impounded under section 218 is to be reckoned as counting towards a period of clamping or impounding imposed by or under this section.
- (7) Subsections (2), (3) and (4) do not operate in respect of a motor vehicle if the Authority, Commissioner or court (as the case requires) is satisfied that the vehicle was at the relevant time a stolen vehicle or a vehicle illegally taken or used.
- (8) Subsections (3) and (4) operate in respect of a motor vehicle used in connection with an offence under section 40 or 41 (2) of the Road Transport (Safety and Traffic Management) Act 1999 even if, at the time of the offence, there is more than one registered operator for that motor vehicle and one or more of those registered operators were not given the suspension warning notice concerned.
- (9) If the registration of a motor vehicle expires during a period of suspension under this section, the registration is taken to be suspended during the unexpired portion of the suspension period for the purposes of any offence provision under any law in relation to operating a motor vehicle while its registration is suspended.

219B Suspension warning notices

Authority may suspend registration of the motor vehicle used in connection with the further offence, or the Commissioner may take other action, under section 219A (3) in respect of the motor vehicle.

- (2) A suspension warning notice has effect for a period of 5 years after it is given, unless it sooner ceases to have effect under this Division.
- (3) A suspension warning notice ceases to have effect if it is withdrawn by the Authority by notice in writing given to the registered operator concerned.
