- (a) the whole or any part of rabbit or shellfish,
- (b) heads, feet, hearts, lights, kidneys, brains or sweetbread, or
- (c) meat packed as a pre-packed article.

- (5) This section does not apply to the sale (other than for the purpose of resale) of cooked meat sold on the premises on which it is cooked.

25A Special provision for sale of firewood by volume

To apply section 23 to a sale of firewood by volume, the volume stated for the sale of the firewood (the stated volume) is taken to comply with that section if, when the firewood is stacked with as few gaps as practicable, the volume worked out using the stack's dimensions is at least the stated volume.

26 Articles required to be sold by specific measurement

- (1) This section applies to an article, or an article of a class, prescribed for the purposes of this section.
- (2) A person who sells a quantity of an article to which this section applies is guilty of an offence unless the sale is at a price determined by reference to a measurement of quantity in the unit of measurement required by the regulations.

Penalty: $5,000 (or such lesser penalty as may be provided by the regulations in respect of the article concerned).

- (3) This section does not apply to the sale of a pre-packed article.

27 Presumptions concerning mass of vehicles

- (1) For the purpose of:
 - (a) determining the consideration in respect of a transaction, or

- (b) determining the amount payable as a tax, rate, toll, duty, charge or other impost (however described), it shall be conclusively presumed that:

- (c) the mass of a vehicle determined by direct measurement of the mass of the vehicle is more accurate than the mass determined by end-and-end measurement of that mass, and
- (d) the mass of a railway vehicle determined when the vehicle is stationary is more accurate than the mass determined when the vehicle is in motion.

- (2) In this section, end-and-end measurement means the determination of a measurement relating to a vehicle (whether loaded or not) by adding together separate measurements of the mass supported singly or in combination by the different axles of the vehicle, those separate measurements having been determined by separate operations of a weighbridge.

Part V Pre-packed articles

Division 1 Requirements for packaging and sale of pre-packed articles

28 Requirements as to packaging of pre-packed articles

- (1) A person who packs an article as a pre-packed article is guilty of an offence unless the package complies with the provisions of the regulations made for the purposes of this section as to the packaging of such an article when it is packed.

Penalty: $10,000.

- (2) A person who sells a pre-packed article is guilty of an offence unless the package complies with the provisions of the regulations made for the purposes of this section as to the packaging of such an article when it is sold.

Penalty: $10,000.

- (3) The regulations may make provision:

- (a) restricting the quantities in which articles may be packed or sold as pre-packed articles, and
- (b) requiring the marking on the package containing a pre-packed article when it is packed or sold of:
 - (i) the name and address of the person who packed the article or on whose behalf it was packed,
 - (ii) the measurement of the article and other information concerning the measurement of the article, and

(iii) the price of the article and other information concerning the price of the article.

(4) This section does not apply to the sale of a pre-packed article by a person if the sale is authorised under Division 2.

29 Defences concerning packaging of pre-packed articles

(1) It is a defence in proceedings under section 28 against a person who packs an article if it is established:

- (a) (to the extent that the proceedings concern the requirement that a name or address be marked on the package) that the article was packed on premises for sale on those premises to a person for consumption or use and not for resale, or
- (b) (to the extent that the proceedings are not so concerned) that the article was packed with the intention that it be exported from Australia and the package was marked to give a clear indication to that effect.

(2) It is a defence in proceedings under section 28 against a person who sells a pre-packed article (to the extent that the proceedings concern the requirement that a name or address be marked on the package) if it is established:

- (a) that the pre-packed article was packed outside Australia, or
- (b) that the pre-packed article was sold on the premises on which it was packed and was so sold for consumption or use and not for resale.

(3) It is a defence in proceedings under section 28 against a person who sells a pre-packed article if it is established that the seller's general defence under this Division applies.

30 Restrictions on use of certain expressions on packages

(1) A person who packs an article as a pre-packed article or sells a pre-packed article is guilty of an offence if, except as authorised by the regulations, there is marked on the package:

- (a) the expression "net mass when packed" or "net mass at standard condition", or any other words that have a similar meaning to those words, or
- (b) any other expression directly or indirectly relating to the measurement of the article or the size of the package that is prescribed by the regulations (including by being specified or described by reference to its meaning or effect) as a prohibited or restricted expression.

Penalty: $5,000.

(2) It is a defence in proceedings under this section against a person who sells a pre-packed article if it is established that the seller's general defence under this Division applies.

- (3) This section does not apply to the sale of a pre-packed article by a person if the sale is authorised under Division 2.

31 Incorrect pricing of pre-packed article

- (1) A person who sells a pre-packed article at a specified price for each unit of measurement of the article is guilty of an offence if the price of the pre-packed article exceeds the price correctly computed by reference to the measurement of the article (without any packaging or other thing that is not part of the article) and the stated price for each unit of measurement.

Penalty: $20,000.

- (2) If the measurement of a pre-packed article is stated by reference to a minimum measurement, any amount by which the actual measurement exceeds that stated minimum measurement shall be disregarded in calculating the correct price for the purposes of subsection (1).
- (3) This section applies whether or not the price of the article and the price for each unit of measurement of the article:
- (a) is required by this Act to be marked on the package containing the article, or
 - (b) is in fact so marked.
- (4) It is a defence in proceedings under this section if it is established that the seller's general defence under this Division applies.

32 Offence of packing or selling short measure

- (1) If the actual measurement of the quantity of a pre-packed article is less than the measurement or minimum measurement marked on the package (whether or not marked for the purpose of complying with this Act):

- (a) the person who packed the article is guilty of an offence, and
- (b) a person who sells the article is guilty of an offence.

Penalty: $20,000.

- (2) If more than one measurement is marked on a package, the prosecution is entitled to rely on any of those measurements to establish an offence against this section unless the context in which the measurement appears indicates that it is not to be taken to be a representation as to the measurement of the quantity of the article.
- (3) The marking of a measurement on a package must make such allowance for any likely reduction over time in the actual measurement of the article as may be necessary to prevent the commission of an offence under this section in relation to the article.

- (4) A measurement or minimum measurement marked on or near a receptacle containing a pre-packed article so as to constitute a representation as to the measurement or minimum measurement of the quantity of the article shall, for the purposes of this section, be regarded as being marked on the package.

33 Extent of deficiency necessary to constitute short measure

- (1) For the purposes of section 32, the actual measurement of a pre-packed article (the offending article) shall not be regarded as being less than a marked measurement unless:
- (a) the deficiency in actual measurement of the offending article is greater than the deficiency permitted by the regulations for the article concerned, or
 - (b) the deficiency in the average of the actual measurements of a number of like articles (found in the same place and at the same time as the offending article is found) is greater than the deficiency permitted by the regulations for the article concerned.
- (2) The regulations may:
- (a) make provision with respect to the method to be used in determining the average measurement under subsection (1) (b) and the number of like articles to be measured for that purpose,
 - (b) provide that the deficiency permitted in the average of measurements determined under subsection (1) (b) is nil, and
 - (c) make different provision according to how long after packaging of the article the measurements concerned are made.
- (3) This section does not apply in a case where the number of like articles (found in the same place and at the same time as the offending article is found and available for measurement by an inspector) is not sufficient for the purposes of a determination under subsection (1) (b) in accordance with the regulations.

34 Defences concerning short measure

- (1) It is a defence in proceedings under section 32 against a person who packs a pre-packed article if it is established that the deficiency in measurement:
- (a) arose after the packing of the article and the marking of the package and was attributable wholly to factors for which reasonable allowance was made in stating the measurement marked on the package, or

- (b) resulted from something that the defendant could not reasonably have foreseen or for which the defendant could not reasonably have made allowance.
- (2) It is a defence in proceedings under section 32 against a person who sells a pre-packed article if it is established:
- (a) that the defendant obtained the article from another person within Australia who packed the article or sold it to the defendant and the defendant identified that other person to an inspector,
 - (b) that the package containing the article was marked apparently as required by this Act when the defendant received it, and
 - (c) that the defendant sold the article in the same state as it was in when the defendant obtained it.
- (3) The defence under subsection (2) is not available to a defendant in relation to the sale of a pre-packed article (the offending article) if:
- (a) a finding by an inspector in relation to another pre-packed article sold by the defendant indicated that its sale would have been an offence under section 32 had that defence not been available,
 - (b) that other pre-packed article was of the same kind, and had the same measurement marked on the package, as the offending article, and
 - (c) the inspector informed the defendant of that finding before the sale of the offending article,
- unless the defendant establishes that the offending article was not in the defendant's possession when the defendant was informed of the inspector's finding.
- (4) It is not a defence in proceedings under section 32 merely to establish that the deficiency in measurement did not exist when the article was packed or when the package was marked.

35 Seller's general defence

If a provision of this Division provides that it is a defence to specified proceedings if it is established that the seller's general defence under this Division applies, it is a defence to those proceedings if it is established that:

- (a) the defendant did not pack or alter the packaging of the article, and
- (b) the offence resulted from something that the defendant could not reasonably have foreseen or for which the defendant could not reasonably have made allowance.

36 Employee's general defence

It is a defence in proceedings against a person for an offence under this Division for packing an article as a pre-packed article if the person establishes that the person packed the article as an employee only.

37 Regulations concerning methods of measurement

For the purposes of this Division:

- (a) the measurement of a pre-packed article shall be determined in accordance with any applicable methods and procedures provided for in the regulations, and
- (b) a measurement so determined shall be regarded as the measurement of the article.

Division 2 Permit to sell certain pre-packed articles

38 Administering authority may issue permits

- (1) The administering authority may issue to a person a permit authorising the sale of a pre-packed article the sale of which would otherwise be an offence under section 28 or 30.
- (2) The issue of a permit operates to authorise such a sale, in the circumstances and subject to any conditions specified in the permit, by:
 - (a) the permit holder, but only while the permit is in force, and
 - (b) any other person, whether or not the permit is in force, if the permit holder sells the article while the permit is in force,so long as, at the time of sale, the seller gives to the purchaser a copy of the permit concerned.
- (3) The requirement under subsection (2) that the seller give the purchaser a copy of the permit does not apply if the sale to the purchaser is not for the purposes of resale.

39 Requirements for issue

The administering authority may issue a permit in relation to an article only if it is satisfied that:

- (a) when packed, the article was intended for export from Australia and that it would be reasonable for its sale to be permitted,
- (b) the article was packed outside Australia and was imported in such circumstances that it would be reasonable for its sale to be permitted, or
- (c) the article was packed in Australia and that, having regard to the date of its packing and any other circumstances considered by the administering authority to be relevant, it would be reasonable for its sale to be permitted.

40 Cancellation of permits

The administering authority may, at any time, cancel a permit by notice in writing served on the holder.

41 Recognition of permits under corresponding laws

Except where the Minister by notice published in the Gazette otherwise provides in a particular case or class of cases, a permit that is the equivalent of a permit under this Division and is in force under a corresponding law has effect within the State as if it were a permit under this Division.

Part VI Licensing

Division 1 Requirements for licences

42 Requirement for servicing licence

44 Application for licence

- (1) On application made in a form approved by the administering authority, the licensing authority may grant:
- (a) a servicing licence, or

- (2) Without limiting the generality of subsection (1) (e), the licensing authority may, in determining whether the applicant is not a fit and proper person to be a licensee, have regard to whether the applicant or, if the applicant is a body corporate, any person concerned in the management of the applicant:
- (a) has, during the period of 10 years that preceded the making of the application, been convicted of, or served any part of a term of imprisonment for, an offence in the State or elsewhere involving fraud or dishonesty,

- (2) Without limiting the generality of subsection (1), such a condition may restrict to a specified class or classes the measuring instruments that may be certified under the authority of a servicing licence.
- (3) After granting a licence, the licensing authority shall not impose or vary a condition of the licence unless the licensee has first been given an opportunity to make oral or written submissions concerning the imposition or variation of the condition.

- (4) The imposition or variation of a condition under this section does not take effect until notice of it has been served on the licensee.

49 Conditions on all servicing licences

A servicing licence is subject to the following conditions:

- (1) If the licensing authority reasonably suspects that there are grounds for disciplinary action against a licensee, the licensing authority may serve a written notice on the licensee:
 - (a) giving full particulars of those grounds, including particulars of the reasons for any general ground, and
 - (b) calling on the licensee to show cause within a reasonable period specified in the notice why the licensing authority should not take disciplinary action on those grounds against the licensee under section 58.
- (2) A licensee on whom such a notice is served may, within the period allowed by the notice, make written or oral submissions to the licensing authority on the matters concerned.

58 Taking of disciplinary action

- (1) If, after consideration of any submissions made by the licensee within the period allowed, the licensing authority is satisfied that grounds for disciplinary action against a licensee have been established, the licensing authority may:

 - (b) impose a condition on the licence,
 - (c) suspend the licence for up to 12 months,

 - (b) if such an application has been duly lodged—until determination or abandonment of the application, unless the review tribunal otherwise orders.
- (3) Subsection (2) applies despite the provisions of Division 2 of Part 3 of Chapter 5 of the Administrative Decisions Tribunal Act 1997.
